Jinxed Gemini Comes Down On Bull's-Eye In Atlantic

LBJ Lauds Stafford; Cernan Gains Rank

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Gemini 9 astronauts Thomas Stafford and Eugene Cernan splashed down to a bull's-eye safe landing before the eyes of millions today from their jinx-plagued space flight. President Johnson led the nation in applause.

A little tired but in excellent physical condition, the nation's 13th manned spaceflight crew plopped down in the Atlantic just 3.5 miles from the aircraft carrier Wasp at 10 a.m. EDT and were hauled aboard in their dripping, heat-seared capsule 51 minutes later.

Television cameras relayed it live to the mainland via satellite.

Johnson promoted Navy Lieutenant Commander Cernan to commander on the spot. He had promoted Stafford to Air Force lieutenant colonel after Gemini 6 last December.

"One of the finest chapters in our whole space program," the President told Cernan. He and Stafford, the President added, had shown "how to perform with courage under pressure."

OFFICIALS HAPPY

Space officials said they were happy with the results despite equipment failures that prevented docking with a target satellite and use of a jet backpack during Cernan's historic spacewalk.

Stafford and Cernan apparently came closest to their target of all manned capsule landings. Gemini control said at first they plopped down 3,000 yards away, but the figure was corrected to 3.5 miles.

A band boomed "Anchors Aweigh" aboard the aircraft carrier Wasp in the western Atlantic as they were fished from the choppy water in their heat-seared capsule and emerged from it on the carrier deck. They grinned and waved.

NEED SHAVES

Stafford wiped sweat from his brow. Both men obviously needed shaves after three days without a razor.

Crewmen cheered and yelled. The astronauts just grinned and waved.

Cernan reported that his two-hour spacewalk Sunday "opened up a whole new dimension in space flight," but it is no cake walk.

"I found, though, that things are kind of difficult to do in space," he said. "It requires a lot more effort than you would expect."

LEARNED A LOT

He said he was sorry he had to cut the walk short because his visor fogged up, "but we learned a lot from what we were able to accomplish."

Television aboard the carrier picked up the capsule as it wafted down under a parachute from its three-day space mission. Stafford guided it down only 3,000 yards from the Wasp, apparently the closest any of the 13 manned U.S. space flights have come to their landing target.

"Pretty close for government work," joked Paul Haney, the voice of Gemini Control.

SHAPE Will Move Office To Belgium

BURSSELS (AP) — NATO's 14 foreign ministers put the stamp of approval on the transfer of the North Atlantic Alliance's military headquarters (SHAPE) from France to Belgium today and set a special October meeting for consideration whether to transfer its political headquarters as well.

According to sources at the opening session of the NATO conference, Belgian foreign minister Pierre Harmel accepted the proposed transfer, but made it clear he was speaking on behalf of the Benelux countries — Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The sources said this was because of the fact that the Belgian government faces certain political problems in its relations with France, and in connection with its own internal political situation.

The foreign ministers of NATO's members met without France this morning to study problems raised by France's withdrawal on July 1 from the alliance's military structure.

Tomorrow French foreign minister Maurice Couve de Murville joins the other 14 ministers for the annual NATO spring ministerial meeting.

Canada was reported leading a group of the smaller powers in opposing U.S., British and West German desires to withdraw NATO's political headquarters from Paris along with its military headquarters.

The big NATO powers want to move both headquarters to Brussels. Authoritative sources reported today that the Belgian government is prepared to accept the military headquarters

Tass Tells Of Space Capsule Safe Landing

MOSCOW (UPI) —The Soviet news agency Tass announced the successful landing of American astronauts Eugene Cernan and Thomas Stafford today within minutes after it was accomplished.

Tass said the Gemini 9 capsule "splashed down safely in the western Atlantic today" in a dispatch datelined New York.

Ky Names 10 Civilians To Join In Rule

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime nominated a slate of 10 civilians today to join the 10-man ruling junta but excluded Buddhist extremists opposing the government.

The list included some moderate Buddhists, Roman Catholics and representatives of the Cao Dai and Hoa Hao sects. But the absence of any militant Buddhists pointed to the imminent danger of a collapse of the political truce between the regime and the unified Buddhist Church.

BUDDHIST UNHAPPY

Even before the government published the list, the Buddhist Institute said: "This cannot solve anything but only increase the opposition from the people." A spokesman said the Buddhists wouldn't join the government if asked.

The ruling generals drafted the list of civilians several hours before a deadline agreed on last week in negotiations between moderate Buddhist elements and the Ky regime to end the political crisis.

In Washington, United Nations Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg briefed senators today amid indications the United States may bid for General Assembly action to supervise South Viet Nam's proposed elections.

Goldberg, who has encountered stiff opposition within Security Council circles to Saigon's request for U.N. observers, scheduled a luncheon with about 15 senators.

'MUTUAL CESSATION'

Goldberg called yesterday for a "mutual cessation of all types of hostilities" in Viet Nam and urged that a new Geneva conference be held to reaffirm 1954 and 1962 Geneva agreements for peace in Southeast Asia.

The list of civilians submitted by the junta in Saigon was revised this afternoon by the 34-man Armed Forces

Two Huge Cakes For Space Twins

ABOARD USS WASP (UPI) — Gemini 9 astronaut workhorses Tom Stafford and Gene Cernan will be feted with 410 pounds of cake aboard the recovery vessel USS Wasp in the Atlantic this afternoon.

The short ceremony with the Wasp crew will be after a lunch with Adm. William N. Leonard, chief of West Atlantic Recovery Forces, and Wasp Capt. Gordon E. Harttey.

Two huge cakes will be cut. One weighs 285 pounds and is two by four feet. The other is 125 pounds in a two by two feet chunk with a replica of a Gemini 9 re-entry attitude.

Inn Owner Target, Witness Testifies

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

Leo Albertoni would have been killed in the Mission Inn holdup last Labor Day if he had not run away, a witness testified today.

The witness, Noreen Michaels, 21, said she was told of the narrow escape of the inn's co-owner by Jack R. Gorman a few hours after the 3 a.m. slaying of bartender Mario Ferrari.

Gorman, 36, and Mark C. Osuna, 30, are on trial in Marin Superior Court for the murder.

Miss Michaels testified she was told by Gorman: "After they shot Mario, they turned around to shoot Leo, but he was gone. Jack said he (Albertoni) deserved to be shot."

Much of the planning of the robbery took place in her San Francisco apartment, according to Miss Michaels' testimony.

She said she had been frightened by Gorman into giving the defendants the layout of the inn, where she had once been employed for several years.

The prosecution witness said Gorman produced a gun in her apartment and threatened her with it. She said she was afraid of him, because he boasted of once having "cut off a woman's breast and crippled a man and a woman for life."

Present at the planning of the robbery in her apartment, according to Miss Michaels, were Osuna, Gorman, Harold Frank Percell, and her roommate, Billie Tierney.

One of the men, she testified, asked Miss Tierney for nylon stockings to use as masks. She said Osuna and Gorman tried them on.

Osuna and Gorman, she testified, wanted her to drive one of the two cars used in the robbery, but she refused. Another woman, Ligia Pino, arrived at her apartment, Miss Michaels said, and agreed to drive a car. Miss Pino, Osuna and Gorman left about 9:30 p.m. for the inn, she said.

The following day, Miss Michael's said, Osuna and Gorman came to her apartment and ordered her to go with them in Osuna's car to Stowe Lake in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park. There, she said, they disposed of two or more of the guns used in the holdup.

She also testified to seeing a money bag, allegedly taken in the robbery, in Osuna's car.

Miss Michaels said she was given $59 by Gorman that day and gave most of it to Percell. She said she kept $20 and used it to move to a new apartment so Gorman and Osuna couldn't find her.

She said, "I was afraid. They had already shot one man."

Man Reports Kidnaping And Beating

A San Rafael man told police of being kidnaped last night by three strangers and beaten with a wrench.

Carlos A. Galan, 21, said two strangers entered his apartment at 215 Bayview Street at 11:45 p.m. and one accused him of having spoken insultingly to the man's sister.

The men, Galan said, then forced him and Edwin D. Lugo, a friend visiting from an upstairs apartment, out of the building and into their car outside, where a tall, thin woman with short blonde hair was waiting.

Galan said that despite his protests that he didn't know the sister mentioned, he and Lugo were driven about four blocks to Meyer Road. There, one man held a knife to Lugo's throat, while the other struck Galan down with a wrench.

Wren Galen began to bleed, his assailants drove him and Lugo to Marin General Hospital and left them there.

Galan was treated for a cut scalp.

He described one man as tall and dark, weighing about 180 pounds. The other, he said, was about five-feet-six-inches tall and blond.

Cloudy Skies Bring Rain

What is so rare as a day in June when it rains?

It did that today in Marin. By noon, .03 of an inch was recorded in San Rafael. There were showers during most of the morning in Mill Valley. Traces of rain were reported all the way north through Novato.

The Weather Bureau forecast continued cloudy skies tonight, with further showers and possible thunderstorms.

The rain is expected to end tomorrow morning, except in the Sierra, the Weather Bureau said.

Candidates Face Voters In Marin

Marin voters will exercise a long-standing right in a new manner when they go to the polls Tuesday to elect local officials and party candidates for state and national offices.

Voters will be punching cards instead of marking ballots as the county tries out an automated system expected to speed up voting and tallying.

All polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.—an hour later than usual.

There will be voting on five special measures, the major one a countywide vote on a $4.3 million bond issue for acquisition and development of park and recreation lands.

Voters in the San Rafael and Dixie Elementary School districts will decide on unification of the two districts with the San Rafael High School district and leveling of the bonded indebtedness in the resulting unified district. (The bonded indebtedness measure will be meaningless unless the unification passes.)

The Fairfax Elementary School District will have an election on a 65-cent hike in the "general operating" tax rate limit from $2.05 to $2.70. This is the portion of the district's tax rate over which voters have control; Fairfax district levied a total tax rate of $2.64 this year.

Two issues will be on the ballot in Lagunitas Elementary School District: a $200,000 bond issue and a $400,000 state loan, both to acquire a school site and construct a new school in Forest Knolls and expand the Lagunitas School site.

One race which has drawn much attention is the battle for the Democratic nomination in the First Congressional District between Phillip Drath, a San Rafael contractor, and Marin County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer.

Drath is running on a strong peace platform and has consistently criticized U. S. policy in Viet Nam.

Republican Donald H. Clausen, the incumbent, has no opposition for his party's nomination.

In the State Senate race, John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) and Pearce Young (D-Napa) are unopposed for nominations in the realigned Fourth District, which includes Napa, Marin and most of Solano counties.

In the State Assembly race, Robert E. Mertle of Santa Venetia and James E. Pockrus of Rohnert Park are seeking the Democratic nomination, while incumbent William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) is unopposed. The reapportioned Seventh Assembly District includes Marin and a portion of Sonoma county.

In the case of the non-partisan offices, the primary constitutes the election if any candidate receives more than half the total vote cast. In the case of the partisan offices, the primary is merely to choose party candidates for the November election.

In the non-partisan races, there are three candidates for supervisor from the First District (part of San Rafael, Ter-

Punch Card Experiment Set Tomorrow

Many a Marin voter may be startled when he arrives at his polling place tomorrow by being handed a card with nothing but rows of numbers, instead of the familiar large, folded ballots.

The ballot itself, in the form of a booklet such as he received as sample ballot through the mail, will be on the Votomatic table which he will use to vote. It will, however, be a complete ballot, with all races in which anyone votes at that polling place.

If he is a Democratic voter, the card he is handed will not work for Republican primary candidates — and vice versa. The pages of the book will have holes so arranged that they conform only to the candidates (and issues) on which he is entitled to vote.

He places the card in a slot under the book, and punches at numbers opposite the names (for instance, for district attorney, punch 79 for Bruce B. Bales or 80 for A. Leonard Bjorklund).

The reason for the punch cards is to speed up handling of the votes. The cards them-

Moon Camera Locates Star; Heat Reaction Check Due

PASADENA (AP)—America's lunar peeping tom, Surveyor I, its delicate footpads resting firmly on the moon's lumpy surface, has taken a long, long look at a star.

The spacecraft's accurate television eye sought and found Sirius, the grightest star in the sky, providing scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory with a good fix on Surveyor's exact location.

The scientists said pictures of the bright star were received yesterday among 651 new photos of the lunar surface, some showing a range of hills in the distance.

The hills, or small mountains, had been noticed in earlier pictures, but only as small lumps in the distance. Far more detail was obtained, the scientists said, by switching to a narrow-angle, long-range lens.

Scientists planned to keep a close eye on Surveyor's reaction today to the sun's heat.

As the moon goes into its period of hibh noon, the surface temperature where Surveyor is was expected to go as high as 260 degrees fahrenheit. The camera would not be turned on in this period because, according to one scientist, it might "blow up or melt."

After the period of high noon, the experiments will resume through the morning of June 14, when the lunar day — two weeks in earth time — ends.

After that, the scientists said, Surveyor's usefulness will end. The craft's delicate instruments would be destroyed in the lunar night's temperature of 260 degrees below zero. The night, like the lunar day, is two weeks long.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Mississippi Vote Slated; No Poll Tax

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Several earmarks of a traditional Mississippi election will be missing tomorrow when voters choose party nominees for Congress.

For the first time poll taxes will not be required. And for the first time, Republicans are staging a primary for a congressional post.

NEW ENGLAND VOTERS

The election also will mark the first major voter test of newly registered Negro voters. Negroes have boosted their strength from 6.4 per cent three years ago to slightly over 20 per cent of the electorate. Negro voters now number 130,000 compared to 30,000 three years ago.

Three dozen Justice Department attorneys, including the federal government's chief civil rights troubleshooter, John Doar, will keep an eye on voting procedures.

This unit will be supported by 200 federal Civil Service workers who will serve as poll watchers in 24 Mississippi counties.

The increased Negro vote was not expected to be a decisive factor in this election.

EASTLAND'S SEAT

Rep. Prentiss Walker, a chicken farmer from Mize, who gained the Republicans first congressional victory of this century when he upset Rep. Arthur Winstead two years ago, seeks the Senate seat held by James Eastland, a Democrat.

State Rep. L. L. McAllister of Meridian, the state's first Republican legislator in modern times, and Travis Buckley of Louin, another Republican, are bidding for Walker's post.

The predominantly Negro Mississippi Freedom Democratic party is running candidates in each of the five House Democratic primary races and against Eastland.

Nurse Slaying Death Sentence

SAN JOSE (AP)—A Superior Court jury, after three days of deliberation, sentenced Clarence McDowell yesterday to death for killing a nurse with a hunting knife.

McDowell, auto mechanic and former mental patient, was convicted May 19 of murdering Mrs. Mildred Pedric, 62, in a laundromat.

McDowell, 22, also was convicted of beating a University of California coed so badly she may never walk again. She is Miss Bernardette Henderson, 21, from the UC Davis campus, who was in San Jose to visit a basketball playing boy friend.

STARTS WALK—James H. Meredith waves to spectators as he starts a 225-mile walk from Memphis, Tenn., to Jackson, Miss., in a voter registration drive. Walking with Meredith is Rev. Robert Weeks of Monroe, N.Y., with a duffle bag. The walk started yesterday. (AP Wirephoto)

Meredith Returning In Vote Drive Walk

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Negro James Meredith, whose admission to the University of Mississippi almost four years ago sparked the bloodiest racial rioting in Mississippi history, planned to return to his home state today on a mission to encourage Negro voter registration.

Meredith began a scheduled 220-mile walk from Memphis to Jackson, Miss., yesterday, but stopped for the day about a half-mile from the Mississippi line. He was to resume at that point today.

The marchers rode back to Memphis to spend last night.

About 30 carloads of curious whites waited for Meredith at the state line yesterday afternoon. Numerous carloads of whites, brandishing Confederate flags and shouting jeers, drove by Meredith and his marchers in Tennessee. But there were no incidents.

The 32-year-old Meredith, wearing a pith helmet and carrying an African walking-stick, was accompanied by a white minister, a white spokesman and about a dozen Negroes, including several women at the start.

Meredith said he was "very much pleased" with the first leg of the march, expected to take 16 days.

Earlier, he had expressed fear of walking in Mississippi because "I've had ond report that somebody would kill me.

"That is one purpose of my march—to get rid of fear," he said.

Pike Installs Two Laymen As Canons

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, retiring Episcopal bishop of California, broke tradition yesterday and installed two laymen as canons of San Francisco's Grace Catherdal.

Usually the honor is limited to clergymen or those with theological training.

In the Episcopal Church a canon is a special assistant to the bishop or a person being recognized for extraordinary service.

The bishop installed Lt. Cmdr. A. Michael D. Lampen as canon publisher. Lampen a British Royal Navy veteran, has been a member of the cathedral staff.

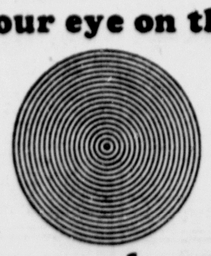

Col. Howard freeman, editor of Pacific Churchman, the diocesan publication, was named canon to the ordinary an assistant to the bishop. The colonel has been diocesan public relations director.

Johnson Gets Panel Report On Air Strike

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson has received findings of a three-man panel that might help erase the threat of a July 5 strike by 34,000 workers against five major airlines.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said the report of a fact-finding board headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., was flown to the LBJ Ranch from Washington yesterday.

FIVE AIRLINES

The board looked into issues underlying a dispute between the AFL-CIO Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers and five carriers: Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United.

If the dispute is not settled by July 5, the union will be free to strike. One aim of the Morse panel, however, was to try to come up with findings that might contribute to a settlement.

Moyers said the text of the report would be made public in Washington early this week.

Johnson, who flew to his Texas ranch with his wife last Friday, was expected to return to the White House tomorrow. The principal purpose of their weekend trip was to see 22-year-old daughter Lynda graduate with honors Saturday night from the University of Texas in Austin. Lynda's actor friend, George Hamilton, also was on hand.

TWO ANNOUNCEMENTS

The President, who apparently has spent much of his time relaxing, made two announcements Sunday:

Dr. Robert Alan Frosch, 38, will be nominated to replace Dr. Robert W. Morse as assistant secretary of the Navy for research and development. Frosch, a physicist, now is deputy director of the Pentagon's Advanced Projects Research Agency.

Dr. Myron R. Blee, 49, will be nominated as deputy director of the Office of Emergency Planning, succeeding Franklin B. Dryden, resigned. Blee is an associate dean of Florida Atlantic University, Boca Raton.

Mao's Heirs Battling For Power In Purges

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

TOKYO (AP) — The Peking watchers believe the current purge in Red China is the beginning of a power struggle among Mao Tze-tung's heirs.

Following the ouster of powerful Peking Mayor Peng Chen from his party post, some observers predicted a showdown between President Liu Shao-chi and Premier Chou En-lai. Their theory was that Chou had Peng fired for fear he would try to grab Chou's position as premier. The observers said Peng had been maneuvering to become premier under President Lius' protection by blaming Chou for recent economic and diplomatic reverses.

Liu and Chou, both 67, are China's two most powerful men after Communist party chairman Mao, whose failing health is believed to have touched off the power struggle. Mao is 72 and makes few public appearances.

Those who foresee the power struggle continuing, with the purge catching even more prominent figures, say one of the next victims could be the army chief Lo Jui-ching. Lo disappeared from public view last November, one month after high-level party meetings.

Some say Lo may have disagreed with the aims and conduct of the purge, which in the early stages took the form of a campaign by army newspapers against intellectuals. If Lo was a friend of Mayor Peng, so the theory goes, then he also may have been aligned with the forces of President Liu, who suffered a setback with Peng's ouster.

Other observers see the possibility of a clash between President Liu and Defense Minister Lin Piao, 57. Lin, who is also first deputy premier, recently put forth new lines of theory on how to implement Mao's teachings.

Unions Reach Accord With Lumber Firms

PORTLAND (UPI) —Two big lumber unions reached accord with two more firms Saturday as a week of negotiations here ended with most major West Coast employers agreeing to pay a 55-cent package increase over the next three years.

The International Woodworkers of America reached agreement with Scott Paper Co. Saturday and both the IWA and the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union reached agreement with the Simpson Timber Co.

The LSW has scheduled meetings Wednesday in San Francisco with three firms in that area — Michigan-California, Pickering and American Forest Products. The three firms represent between 5,000 and 6,000 workers.

Contracts with smaller independent firms in the northwest and the Boise Cascade group have yet to be resolved, a union spokesman said.

He said some local issues remain unresolved and these will be negotiated at the local level.

The contracts with the major firms are expected to be ratified by membership in Oregon, Washington and California within two weeks.

No Candidates

Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees did not meet yesterday to interview kindergarten teacher candidates, as planned, because of lack of candidates to interview, reported Arthur E. Carpenter, clerk. Four had been interviewed earlier.

Katzenbach Asks 1966 Vote On Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach told Congress today there is no reason for putting off action beyond this session on President Johnson's new civil rights bill, including the controversial open-housing proposal.

Testifying at the opening of Senate hearings on the five-part package, Katzenbach again took issue with allegations by southerners that much of the bill — particularly the housing section —is unconstitutional and that the whole thing needs be put off until later.

"I have no doubt that it is constitutional," he said after Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., of a Senate judiciary subcommittee, led off the hearings with an assault on the measure.

Other congressional news:

Jobs: Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz endorsed several proposed amendments —mostly rather minor —to the federal manpower development program in testimony before a House labor subcommittee. Wirtz said no fundamental the next year although the change in the job training program was contemplated in focus would be on developing people to fill shortages in certain skills and in coping with "residual pockets of hard-core unemployment."

Mansfield: Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told the Senate he hoped careful study would be given to Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg's call for a "mutual cessation" of Viet Nam hostilities. Mansfield, who has often urged a new Geneva conference on Viet Nam, said he hoped the Communist capitals as well as Washington and the United Nations would give the Goldberg suggestion full attention.

Man Held After Two Die In Bar Near Santa Rosa

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—A Sebastopol laborer was held on two counts of murder today in the slaying of two persons in a West Santa Rosa cafe.

Sheriff's deputies said Joseph C. Randall, 41, and Mrs. Willie Mae Taylor, 44, both from Santa Rosa, were killed by a single shot fired by Sheldon N. Presley, 52.

Randall and Presley had been feuding for years, officers said. Mrs. Taylor was apparently an innocent bystander.

Deputies said Randall and Presley argued briefly yesterday after seeing each other at the cafe. They said Presley left the cafe and returned with a rifle, firing one shot which hit Randall in the chest, passed through him and struck Mrs. Taylor.

Officers said they did not know the nature of the feud.

Boy Admits 10 Cases Of Malicious Damage

Two Corte Madera boys, aged 14 and 13, picked up by police when found loitering in a residential area at 1 a.m. Friday, have admitted more than 10 instances of malicious mischief in the last two years, Corte Madera police said today.

The boys admitted throwing eggs at houses, flattening tires, placing eggs in gasoline tanks, and breaking lights at Neil Cummins School, police reported.

Brixon House Buy Depends On Annexation To Larkspur

The City of Larkspur is assured an annexation if City Councilman Neil R. Brixon buys a house.

Or, put the other way around. Brixon will buy a new home if the property is annexed to Larkspur.

Brixon confirmed today that he has made an offer to purchase Greenbrae developer Neils Schultz's home at 30 La Cuesta Drive — but only on condition that it be annexed to Larkspur. Although all surrounding propery was annexed in 1954, Schultz's home was not included because he was in Europe and not available to sign the annexation petition, Brixon explained.

Brixon said Schultz has accepted his offer for the home, with the proviso that annexation to the city is a prerequisite. The matter is to be before the Local Agency Formation Commission July 7. The price was not disclosed.

Brixon now lives at 329 North Almenar Drive, also in Greenbrae but within Larkspur.

School Burning Tried At Strawberry Point

Sheriff's offices today were investigating crude attempts to set fire to part of Strawberry Point School with jelly gasoline.

The outbreak, which caused about $100 damage, was put out by the school custodian 9:05 p. m. Friday before it could involve a classroom. The classroom window was damaged and some plasterwork inside the building was burned.

Arsonists, believed to be juveniles, spread an inflammable substance on the woodwork of the window and set fire to it.

According to the school principal, Joseph K. Womack, a jelly type of substance was ignited, flared up and cracked a plate glass window. The fire seared the outside of the building.

Some of the jelly fell through the broken window onto a table and damaged it slightly, said custodian James H. Kuykendall.

"We have had cases in the past where people entered the building and scattered papers about. This is the first time any one has attempted to start a fire," Kuykendall said.

walking co-pilot splashed down at 10 a.m. EDT at the end of their 45th orbit and 1.125 million miles in space. They were hauled aboard the Wasp at 10:51 a.m. EDT from the choppy sea.

Officials said they would be flown to Cape Kennedy, where they blasted off last Friday, at about 4 p.m. EDT today. First there will be medical examinations aboard the carrier.

Cernan's record two-hour spacewalk was soured yesterday when his visor frosted and he could not use a back jetpack to jet around in space. And Gemini 9 could not dock with a target satellite because its protective shroud had failed to come off.

But Stafford had demonstrated three times the tricky art of rendezvous with a satellite, coming to within three feet of it. And both men, frustrated twice by launch difficulties before they finally blasted off, were understandably beaming and happy as they emerged from their dripping capsule.

The flight lasted exactly 72 hours and 20 minutes.

Stafford and Cernan elected to be brought aboard the carrier while still in the capsule. Television cameras aboard ship relayed the events to the mainland 350 miles away via satellite.

Stafford fired his retrorockets over the Pacific at 9:26 a.m. EDT to slow the 17,500 mile an hour speed of his craft in orbit and begin the descent to the atmosphere.

Precisely on schedule he hit the atmosphere. The heat shield on the blunt end of the capsule pushed through 3,000-degree heat in a fiery ball that blacked out communications for five minutes.

but wants the political council to accompany it.

The American and British governments feel that France should not be accorded all the privileges of NATO membership without paying a fair price.

Canada, Denmark, Norway, Italy, Greece, Turkey and Portugal feel that to pressure De Gaulle now would risk a complete rupture with France. De Gaulle has said that France will remain a member of the alliance in a political sense, although withdrawing from its military framework.

The ministers are also divided on whether to insist that command of the 72,000 French troops in West Germany be linked politically as well as militarily with those of other NATO nations.

Two Felons Die At San Quentin

James Edward Rivers, 56, also convicted of second degree burglary in Los Angeles County, died Saturday of internal hemorrhage following surgery Friday.

selves will be fed into computers at the Marin Civic Center to tally the count. Only write-in votes will be tallied at the polling place.

How to vote a write-in—and other intricacies of the "Votomatic" system which is getting its first tryout this year in Marin and many other counties—will be explained by an election official whose job will be just that: showing voters how to vote the punch-card way.

Some idea of the intricacy of the setup may be gained from the fact that there are, according to election supervisor John H. Musser, 57 different ballot combinations in the county for tomorrow's voting—this including the two parties and the varicuts overlapping districts that have candidates, ballot proposals, etc.

Council, part of the governing military apparatus, then sent back to the junta for approval.

The Buddhist Institute, in a communique, repeated demands for the resignation of Ky and the chief of state, Nguyen Van Thieu.

"If the two generals still remain in power with only superficial changes in the junta, it cannot solve anything but only increase the opposition from the people," the communique said.

While the Ky regime attempted to live up to its political pact with the Buddhists, it appeared in for a surprise from the Electoral Commission it named to prepare the ground for the Sept. 11 elections for a Constitutional Assembly.

During a long debate last night, 27 of the 32 commissioners were reported in favor of letting the assembly turn itself into a governing legislature after it drafts a constitution.

This would shorten the life of the military regime considerably and preclude the second round of voting for a legislature which Ky plans.

While the politicking went on in Saigon, there were these developments in the war:

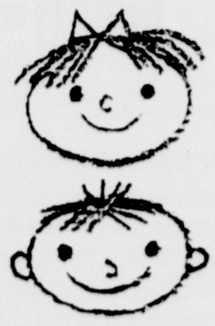

Tiburon Whale Is Towed Away

Tiburon's beached dead whale went the way of many whales and was harpooned and towed away Saturday afternoon.

Workers from Golden Gate Fishing Co. of Richmond towed the smelly 30-foot carcass away from its resting place near Mar East Street. The county health department asked the whaling firm to take the whale after the Coast Guard and the Army Corps of Engineers refused to tow it away.

The whale, which had been seen floating around the bay, washed ashore in Tiburon Thursday night. The badly decomposed hulk was dislodged by several high tides but returned each time to the Tiburon waterfront.

Senate Group Warns Aviation Hurt By Space

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report issued by the Senate Space Committee cautions that vast outlays for the U.S. space program "may be obscuring and interfering with the important and rewarding benefits to be realized in civil aviation of the future."

The 279-page report released by the committee chairman, Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., questions the over-all adequacy of the current program that provides more than $5 billion for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration but earnarks only $124 million for aeronautics.

Continued progress in aeronautics involves the economic strength, national prestige and military security of the United States, the report says.

Sausalito Council Interviews Police

The Sausalito City Council met Saturday to interview three candidates for chief of police.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk declined to identify the three, but said a choice should be made on a new police chief for the city sometime this week.

Humphrey Hits One-Year Plan On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says the United States' foreign aid program "should not be altered because of views on Viet Nam."

In an interview, Humphrey predicted Congress will send President Johnson "a reasonable, usable program." But he expressed misgivings about the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's action cutting the aid authorization to one year. The administration seeks a five-year authorization.

"You can't operate a business prudently on a one-year authorization," Humphrey said. The Senate committee is headed by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who has criticized administration Viet Nam and foreign aid policies.

23 Hurt As Passenger Train Goes Off Track

CARROLL, Iowa (UPI) —The Union Pacific's City of Los Angeles train derailed today, shaking up more than 100 passengers and injuring 23.

The injured were taken to St. Anthony's Hospital where a spokesman said none was seriously hurt.

One of five diesel units pulling the 19-car train tipped on its side when it left the rails, but all other locomotives and cars remained upright, railroad officials said.

The train, carrying 139 passengers, was speeding eastward toward its Chicago terminal, about 80 miles east of Omaha, Neb., when it jumped the tracks. The Union Pacific uses Milwaukee Road tracks from Omaha to Chicago.

A Milwaukee Road spokesman said uninjured passengers were taken by bus to a schoolhouse at nearby Templeton, Iowa, where they were given breakfast. From there chartered buses took them to Chicago.

The train's engineer, Charles Rankin, was in the overturned unit but he apparently was not injured and remained at the crash scene.

Conductor F. H. McDonald said, "I was coming up through the train when it happened."

He said the only injury of a serious nature that he knew of was a train waiter who suffered a broken leg.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Commencement–One-Time Citizen Forgets Gripes About His Schools

The time is upon us for an event that each year makes us all proud of our schools: Graduation.

No one, I think, can look upon the throngs of graduates in their caps and gowns, or their clean white shirts and pastel dresses, without a feeling of warmth and satisfaction.

No one can watch, as they march so stiffly to receive their diplomas and awards, without a glow of pride—vicarious pride in the children of others, heart-gripping pride in his own.

NO ONE CAN listen to the student speakers (even though their speeches may sound more revolutionary than we would have dared at a graduation in our generation) without feeling that, after all, the schools have done well.

We may have groused at the schools from time to time. We may have felt that the discipline was lax, that too many of the teachers were mere time-servers, that the curriculum seemed at once too general and too restricted.

We may have complained when we were expected to learn "new math" to help junior with his homework. And it may have wrenched us more than slightly to pay those ever-rising school taxes.

But when we watch the graduation, we have a feeling that all is not in vain; that if not the best of all possible schools, our public schools are at least the best of their kind.

THIS WARM feeling, of course, is part self-congratulatory. When we conclude that American public schools have done well, we are patting ourselves on the back—for they are our own creation.

No other nation in the world has done what we and our forebears in the United States have done: Provide education for all, without cost to the student, and on our own.

The Constitution of the United States said nothing about providing schools. It left that to the states. And the states responded—some of them tardily, but all at last, so that now school attendance beyond the average of what our fathers had has been made compulsory in every one of the 50 states.

Even more, though, it was the people in each community who began this public education. That the states only gradually involved themselves was largely because the communities were doing a fair job without them. When the states made school attendance compulsory, it was at the insistence of the public.

NOWHERE ELSE on earth has there been anything like this. In very recent years, some other nations have made school attendance compulsory—but by fiat from the national government. In no other have the people themselves insisted upon it, and provided the schools to make it possible through their own local efforts.

So these graduates who stir our hearts are products of a system in which we have a part.

Perhaps, then, graduation is a good time to consider a few things about this unique school system.

The local control—and local financing — are at once its strength and its weakness. The schools are what they are because of us.

If the discipline is bad in the schools, it is at least in part because it is bad in the home. If too many of the teachers are time-servers, it is because we have allowed them to impose a system of salaries and employment security that encourages this abuse.

IF THOSE school taxes seem to have risen too rapidly, have we taken the trouble to inform ourselves on the reasons?

And if sometimes it appears that the schools have been taken from the hands of the people who underwrite them, it is because we have allowed it to happen.

We hear and read a great deal about threats to the schools from organized pressure of extreme left and extreme right. It would be disastrous to the schools and to freedom if either of these should gain control of the public education system.

It might also be disastrous to our uniquely American education system were the schools, created by the people, to be taken over by an entrenched organization within the schools themselves—which appears a somewhat less improbable eventuality than a takeover by either left or right.

Those proud graduates provide visual evidence that the people's schools are doing rather well. It behooves us to make sure that they remain the people's—all the people's.

Three Boys Save Sleepy Hollow House From Fire

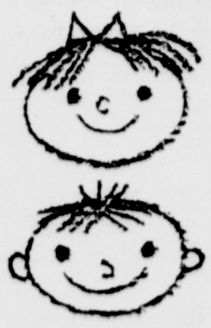

A Sleepy Hollow woman yesterday praised three youths for their quick action when a grass fire spread across her yard at 9:07 Saturday.

They had the fire practically out when San Anselmo firemen arrived, said Mrs. Helen Mulder of 130 Crane Drive. By their fast work with a garden hose, they saved her house, she said.

She identified the youths as Donald Stone of 1208 Sir Frances Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, and Dennis Thomas of 50 Estates Drive, Sleepy Hollow.

The San Anselmo Fire Department reported the fire burned an area of about 100 square foot.

High Court Orders Sheppard Retrial

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Coart today ordered a new trial for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, socially prominent Cleveland osteopath, convicted in 1954 of murdering his wife, Marilyn.

Under the ruling, Cuyahoga County prosecutors must re-try Sheppard in 60 days or free him permanently. The 1954 conviction was for second-degree murder.

Sheppard served nine years of a life term when found guilty of the fatal bludgeoning of his pregnant young wife in the couple's fashionable Bay Village home on Lake Erie.

Sheppard, known in the headlines as "Dr. Sam," was ordered released by Federal District Judge Carl Weinman of Chicago on the ground that trial and pre-trial publicity made a fair and impartial jury impossible. On May 5, 1965, the Sixth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed Weinman but let Sheppard stay at liberty pending his appeal to the Supreme Court.

Sheppard was awaiting an early parole when released.

Justice Tom C. Clark spoke for the Supreme Court. Justice Hugo L. Black dissented but wrote no opinion.

Clark said trial Judge Edward A. Blythin of Cleveland did not "fulfill his duty to protect Sheppard from the inherently prejudicial publicity which saturated the community and to control the disruptive influences in the court room."

Clark said, however, that "reversals are but palliatives."

"The cure," he said, "lies in those remedial measures that will prevent the prejudice at its inception. The courts must take such steps by rule and regulation that will protect their processes from prejudicial outside interferences.

"Neither prosecutors, counsel for defense, the accused, witnesses, court staff nor enforcement officers coming under the jurisdiction of the court should be permitted to frustrate its function.

"Collaboration between counsel and the press as to information affecting the fairness of a criminal trial is not only subject to regulation, but is highly censurable andworthy of disciplinary measures."

Prosecutor Considering New Trial

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan said today he probably would decide tomorrow or Wednesday whether to retry Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard in the 1954 murder of his wife.

Corrigan said he expected to receive u copy of today's U.S. Supreme Court ruling in the Sheppard case by tomorrow "and I will make a decision in a day or two, possibly even Tuesday."

He said he alone would decide whether to retry Sheppard.

He said the Supreme Court ruling was "absolutely unexpected . . . most unexpected."

On May 5, 1965, the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed a Chicago federal judge who had ordered Sheppard released on grounds he did not receive a fair and impartial trial.

Presbyterians Delay Vote On Alinsky Bid

The Redwoods Presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church, which includes churches in Marin, has decided to postpone the vote which was scheduled Saturday on whether the church should bring community organizer Saul Alinsky to the Bay Area.

The vote was postponed pending the report of an 11-man committee of the San Francisco Presbytery. Committee members are making a study of Alinsky's organization, the Industrial Areas Foundation which includes trips to areas in New York and Chicago which have been organized by Alinsky. The report is scheduled to be made tomorrow to the San Francisco Presbytery.

Teacher Union Charges Voydat Lacks Professional Competence

Mitchell L. Voydat, assistant superintendent of San Rafael city schools for high schools, is accused of "serious lack of professional competence" in a "progress report" of a California Federation of Teachers' academic freedom committee.

The report was circulated to teachers during the weekend.

The committee was appointed by the AFL-CIO affiliated union following a ruckus last winter over removal from a Terra Linda High School senior English class at Jack Kerouac's book, "On The Road."

Voydat ordered the book stricken from the required reading list of the class for next year after it had been reviewed by a committee he appointed. Names of the committee members were never disclosed.

The unsigned progress report of the investigating committee was prepared by Jackson Burgess of the English department at University of California in Berkeley, according to Walter B. Belden, president of the San Rafael local of the teachers federation. The local has asked investigation of alleged impairment of academic freedom as result of the book controversy. Burgess was one of six members of the committee appointed by the California Federation of Teachers.

The report cites five instances of what it calls Voydat's "serious lack of professional competence." Besides the book action, these include:

1. A request that Principal Alfred N. Thomson of San Rafael High School obtain from John C. Curtin, philosophy and humanities teacher, an explanation of his comments on a student's essay. The essay was four years old, the report says. The matter was dropped, according to the report.

2. A request that Daniel Langton, San Rafael High School English and journalism teacher, clarify remarks he allegedly made in class "disparaging private schools, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and J. Edgar Hoover." This also was not followed up, the report says.

3. Removal by Voydat of tape records which had been purchased for use in social science classes at San Rafael High School. Voydat, according to the report, said he removed the tapes for preview and evaluation, which he declared to be "within my prerogative as assistant superintendent of secondary instruction." The AFT committee reports he was evasive when questioned about it.

4. Report that Voydat scheduled meeting of some teachers at San Rafael High School "for the purpose of discussing the professional qualifications of some of their colleagues." The report indicates that whether this happened has not been established, as it says, "If so, this is a very serious charge."

The report concludes: "In all of these actions, and in others, Dr. Voydat has acted with no respect for dignity of his teachers, with no concern for procedural safeguards, and with a total contempt for academic freedom in his district."

Eric Spiekerman, a San Francisco high school teacher who is chairman of the committee, said the investigation has gone beyond merely academic freedom, with which it started.

He said one or more additional progress reports will be issued during the summer, followed by a complete report next fall.

Members of the committee, besides Spiekerman and Burgess, are T. Howell Breese, a teacher at College of Marin; Leonard Feldman, a teacher at San Jose State College, and Janice Albert and Robert Whalen, both teachers at Chabot Junior College.

The California Federation of Teachers is one of two organizations representing teachers in the San Rafael schools. As of last January, it has 51 members in the San Rafael system.

Most of the teachers belong to the California Teachers Assn., which is conducting its own investigation of school board-community-administration-faculty difficulties in the city schools.

Park Commission Will Consider Resignation

The Marin County Parks and recreation Commission Wednesday will discuss the resignation of one of its members, Peter Gottheiner, who resigned with the charge that the commission was not devoting enough effort to organized recreation.

Gottheiner, frequently absent from meetings, charged the commission spends too much time on real estate and open space preservation efforts.

The commission meeting will begin at 2 p.m. at the Civic Center. By then, the commission will know the fate of tomorrow's $4.3 million park bond issue. The bond issue will be one of the items for discussion.

Council Queries Chief Applicants

Sausalito city councilmen Saturday interviewed three candidates for the job of police chief but took no action. City Mgr. Charles A. Brown plans to evaluate all the candidates, he said today, and possibly make an appointment in 10 days.

Theodore C. Zink is acting chief since resignation in March of former Chief Kenneth H. Huck.

The council will meet at 7:30 p.m. today to make a public works field trip, then return to City Hall to discuss public works as they relate to the fiscal 1967 budget.

Car Hits Strip, Then Overturns

Linda Ellen Foehr, 18, of Marinwood, escaped serious injury when her car overturned on highway 101 north of Novato at 11:30 p.m. yesterday.

Miss Foehr, of 2151 Elderberry Lane, was X-rayed for back injuries at Novato General Hospital. The California Highway Patrol said she was driving south when the car hit the dividing strip and careened off the road.

Negroes Picket U.S. Steel Headquarters In Job Push

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Negroes picketed U.S. Steel Corp's downtown Pittsburgh today to dramatize a push for increased job opportunities in industry.

About 20 pickets marched on the sidewalk in front of the building as police and lunch-hour spectators watched.

The demonstration was scheduled to last about four hours.

Henry Smith, president of the Pennsylvania chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said simultaneous demonstrations were taking place at U.S. Steel facilities in the Birmingham, Ala., and Los Angeles areas.

Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, told a rally in Pittsburgh Sunday, "if we can make an impression on U.S. steel to expand its opportunities for Negroes, then this will raise the rate of acceptance and promotions for Negroes in smaller companies."

Three Injured As Car Cut Off

A Petaluma driver suffered a concussion and his two passengers were also injured when his car went off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard a mile east of the Tocaloma-Petaluma Road at 6 p.m. yesterday.

Philip L. Jones, 19, was reported in good condition today in Marin General Hospital. His passengers, Ronald V. Davis, 18, of Tomales, and Eric Angress, 17, of Marshall, were treated for cuts and bruises.

The California Highway Patrol reported that Jones was driving west and said he was cut off by another car.

$5 Million Lawsuit Filed On Fuji Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A $5 million damange suit was filed today on behalf of the estate of a Eureka newspaper photographer who died when an airliner crashed near Mt. Fujiyama in Japan.

Attorneys for Wendy Hulbert filed the suit in U.S. District Court here.

Her husband, Neil Hulbert, was killed March 5 when a British Overseas Airways Corp. plane crashed on a flight from Tokyo to Hong Kong. The crash killed all 124 persons aboard the Boeing 707 jet.

Hulbert, 31, was chief photographer for the Humboldt Times and Humboldt Standard newspapers. He was en route to Viet Nam on a photographic assignment.

In addition to BOAC and Boeing, defendants in the suit are Pan American World Airways, Rolls Royce, Inc. and Rolls-Royce Ltd., the Cunard Steamship Co. and BOAD-Cunard.

The suit listed four causes of action, including negligence in the design, manufature and assembly of the plane; willful misconduct and negligence by the airline and its pilot, and breech of warranty.

Rolls Royce manufactured the engines used in the Boeing jet, and Pan American arranged for Hulbert's flight on BOAC for that leg of his journey to Viet Nam, according to the complaint. BOAC is part of the Cunard corporate structure.

The suit contends that there were defects in the tail section, vertical stabilizer and engines of the plane which contributed to its crash.

In addition, it accuses the airline pilot Bernard J. Dobson of willful misconduct and negligence in flying near Mt. Fuji, where the plane was subject to strong turbulence and sudden gusts of wind.

Dirksen Says Most Support Viet Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said today he believes a substantial majority of Americans support President Johnson's Viet Nam policies "because there isn't anything else to do."

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, commented to reporters on a weekend statement of Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., that if he were to follow public opinion polls—which Scott said he does not—he would withdraw support of Johnson's course.

The rescuer was husky Edward J. Mackrackis, 34, who saw the man following Miss Yates. He subdued the intruder in her apartment.

A man who said he is a Travis Air Force Base airman, George W. Baker, 23, was booked on suspicion of robbery and burglary.

WE SEW SEATS

Car seats. With split seams.

For example . . . the little VW is a mighty fine car. It's put together by strong mechanics. They have contests to see who can tighten the bolts best. They never come apart.

Except at the seams. We sew them up. With dacron thread. And they never come apart!

(Sam, incidentally, pioneered the use of dacron thread in the automotive field in Marin. Just one of our many firsts.)

We sew seams for Fords, Chevs. and Plymouths, TRs, MGAs, and Alfas. And many more, too.

We also install seat covers, auto glass and convertible tops, carpets, headrests and armrests. And many more.

Stop in today and show us your seam problem. Or seat cover problem. Or glass breakage.

We'll be happy to see you!

The Mercedes-Benz 250S—
the $6500 car that doesn't wallow, waddle, sway, sag or butter up your ego

This new Mercedes-Benz sedan gives you all the roominess of other $6500 cars—without an ounce of fat. You ride on fully independent suspension, stop with 4-wheel disc brakes. Result: the 250S outpaces the $6500 fat cats as an athlete outpaces a gang of fat men. Read more about this superbly engineered machine, built for driving.

EXCESS size and weight in a car may tickle your vanity, but they sabotage performance.

The practical-minded men who designed the Mercedes-Benz 250S refused to pad this machine with needless bulk. It weighs a ton less than its overweight rivals. It's two feet shorter overall.

Yet inside, five adults find plentiful seating room. More rear seat hiproom than the newest Rolls-Royce. More headroom than a Lincoln Continental. More shoulder room than an Oldsmobile Toronado.

Four secrets: Narrower doors, side windows that curve into the roof, recessed floor pan—and a ban on styling that cuts passenger space.

Designed around its occupants and not a "styling theme," the new Mercedes-Benz 250S sedan provides plentiful room for five—and 87% unobstructed visibility for the driver. A refreshingly sane car. Clip the coupon for a free brochure.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $25,785 to $4,065

You may be able to afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Below are suggested retail prices* for 8 of the 15 Mercedes-Benz models:

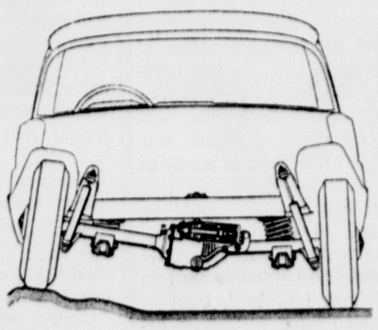

600 Grand Mercedes	$25,785
300SE Coupe	11,737
230SL Roadster	6,262
250S Sedan	5,861
230S Sedan	4,900
230 Sedan	4,250
200 Diesel Sedan	4,280
200 Sedan	4,065

*West Coast ports of entry, exclusive of options, state and local taxes if any.

Fundamentals, not gimmicks

You invest in superior engineering with the 250S, not trivial doodads.

For example, you ride on a suspension that makes most other $6500 sedans seem like museum pieces. It's fully independent; the rear axle is split into two halves to blot up bumps and grip the road as no conventional "solid rear axle" can.

Mercedes-Benz swing axle pivots in center, lets rear wheels flex separately over bumps.

Tenacious road holding and taut, wallow-free ride are musts for European driving. As you'll find on curves, country lanes and in city traffic, they translate beautifully to American conditions.

Note: An ingenious hydropneumatic compensating spring automatically pumps up to keep the 250S riding level, regardless of loads. Even if you add 600 pounds to the trunk, the stern won't sink.

Stopping made easy

Large 14-inch wheels let Mercedes-Benz engineers fit large brakes to the 250S.

And remarkable brakes they are—10.8-inch discs in front, 11-inch discs at rear, and a total of 430 square inches of swept brake area.

"The car has enormous stopping power," says Car and Driver Magazine. And it stays enormous—even after repeated panic stops. A small valve in the 250S brake system balances front and rear braking forces to prevent rear wheel lockup in sudden hard stops.

Not a blunderbuss

Since the 250S isn't an oversized behemoth, it doesn't need an oversized behemoth of an engine to propel it.

At that, the overhead camshaft 6-cylinder engine up front is hardly puny; you can purr along at over 100 mph as long as it's legal.

"There is as little inside noise at 100 mph as at a standstill," comments New York Herald Tribune columnist, Leo Levine.

This engine is one of the most exquisitely well built machines of its kind in the world. After hours of patient hand assembly, it undergoes a patient hour of all-out testing on a special stand—with oil changed 62 times to flush away debris.

Built to last

You can reasonably expect years of uncomplaining service from the 250S.

Rattles are squelched by a body welded at 10,000 points. Rust is thwarted with 24 lbs. of primer paint and 24 lbs. of a thick, plasticized permanent undercoat. And every 250S body spends 3 hours being hammered, filed, sanded and buffed before painting.

"One is automatically impressed with the obvious high quality of every single switch, gauge, control, carpet, and piece of upholstery," comments Car and Driver on the 250S interior. "The seats are as good as any in the world." A three-way adjustment raises, lowers or tilts the front seats to any desired position—even horizontal, for catnaps.

Comfortable note: Rear-seat passengers aren't afterthoughts in the 250S. They sit high enough for a clear view of the road ahead, on a divan-type seat as relaxing on long trips as those up front.

Safety an obligation

Mercedes-Benz considers safety a moral obligation, not a public relations problem. Some results of this view:

The 250S body itself is a safety feature. The center section where you ride is rigid. Front and rear ends are designed to crumple on violent impact and absorb shock (the less shock you receive, the less threat of serious injury).

Possible interior hazards have been padded, recessed, or made of pliable material such as rubber. The steering wheel hub is a big padded plate. The instrument panel is padded to protect your head and your knees. The rearview mirror, spring-mounted in its socket, snaps away if struck.

These features and many more are found in all Mercedes-Benz cars—and were there long before the current "safety controversy."

Upbeat ending: The $6500 price includes power-assisted steering and brakes and automatic transmission. A simplified 250S can be yours for $5861.

There's Pay Television Now, At $6 Per Person

Two years ago, the people of this state voted to outlaw pay television by passing Proposition 15.

The courts have since ruled that the law is unconstitutional. Pay TV is thus allowed to re-enter the competitive market, along with all other private enterprises, as it should be.

Damage, however, has been done. The consuming public has felt the impact of the two-year setback suffered by pay television.

Take last week's 500-mile Indianapolis speedway classic as an example.

Families who wanted to watch the race on Memorial Day had to troop into one of the movie theaters and fork up $6 per head to watch the race on closed circuit television.

Had pay television been allowed to grow in the Bay Area instead of being nipped in the bud two years ago, we could presumably have had the option this year of watching the Indianapolis classic and other special events on our home TV sets.

So, instead of being able to have the whole family see the famed 500 Classic in our living room for a couple of dollars, we have to pay $6 per person to watch television in a movie house.

At the time Proposition 15 yas being drummed up two years ago, its backers kept shouting, "We don't want pay-TV!"

What they conveniently neglected to mention was their real intent: No pay-TV allowed in private homes; come to see pay-TV in movie houses!

4.8 Million Expected To Vote In Primary After Dull Campaign

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — Tomorrow comes the day of reckoning for seekers of public office in California as some 4,875,000 persons are expected to visit the polling places and cast ballots for Democratic and Republican candidates in the trial run for the show-down next November.

More than 7,500,000 persons are registered to vote, and Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, whose predictions on percentages voting in the past have been remarkably accurate, expects a 65 per cent turn out.

As usual, the spotlight is on the race for the governorship, but on the whole, the campaign has been somewhat dull.

GOV. EDMUND G. Brown, it is conceded is a "shoo-in" for the Democratic nomination. On the Republican side, Ronald Reagan, Los Angeles, appears to be the betting favorite.

The lieutenant-governorship, held for nearly eight years by Glenn M. Anderson, again a candidate for the nomination, has sparked more interest.

Anderson's incumbency is jeopardized by two up and coming Democrats, Thomas W. Braden, Oceanside newspaper publisher and president of the State Board of Education, and Lloyd N. Hand, Santa Monica, who is suspected of seeking the office at the insistence of the White House in Washington, D.C.

Secretary of State Jordan has no problems concerning the GOP nomination, and it looks like Milton G. Gordon, state real estate commissioner, is in the same boat on the Democratic side.

ALAN CRANSTON undoubtedly is a cinch once again to secure the Democratic nomination for state controller against two weak opponents.

Five candidates seek the Republican nomination for this office, and as they are located in widely separated areas of the state, the GOP choice is uncertain.

Only one state-wide office could get along this year without benefit of a primary election. This is the post of state treasurer. Bert A. Betts, the incumbent Democrat, has no opponents for the nomination, and neither has Ivy Baker Priest, former treasurer of the United States, who filed for the Republican nomination.

So this battle will be postponed until the November general election, when the sole issue will be whether a Democrat or Republican holds the office.

SOME MINOR interest has been evinced in the race for attorney-general. Thomas C. Lynch, the Democratic incumbent, is an appointee of Governor Brown, and this is his first entry into a state-wide race. He is former district attorney of San Francisco.

Lynch's Democratic opponent is William M. Bennett, member of the public utilities commission, and also an appointee of Governor Brown. Bennett has not resigned to run for state-wide office.

While not much has been heard about the Republican candidates for this important office, Spencer Williams appears to be leading the three on the ballot.

One Experience With Delinquent Tax Bills

Editor, Independent-Journal:

High taxes a problem? I call them a joke! There is no cure.

With interest I have watched the elections of recent years. Any one even suggesting economizing never gets elected, and the elected ones are ousted by recalls.

People who advocate not paying your property taxes have a thought, however impractical. No one can vouch for this more than I, the once owner of nearly $2 million worth of real estate.

Involuntarily I have neglected paying my taxes because when adding up the perennial 10 per cent vacancies, the dead beats who never pay rent, the attorney fees for eviction, the collecting agency's fees "if they collect" — a combination of circumstances — I have one conclusion, the odds are against the property owner.

The fact is that the lending institutions force you to pay the taxes when due, otherwise recall their loans through foreclosure. This is what happened to me recently. I screamed: HIGH TAXES, VACANCIES, LOUSY TENANTS — nothing helped. February, notices of defaults; May, trustee sales.

. . . I found a young, but very competent attorney, who listened to me. I put my cards on the table, and asked him to stop those foreclosures.

"How?" was the question.

"Chapter Twelve was the answer", a federal law that voids any forclosure sale if the declaration is filed before the hour of the trustee sale . . .

Law books were opened, and there in print was CHAPTER TWELVE. For two weeks records of debts, assets and appraised values were gathered, papers were signed, and the petition was filed just in time. No sale was held on May 31. The federal law, CHAPTER TWELVE, ruled . . .

Now, the federal courts may give me a year's time to pay the taxes and bring payments current. But, eventually the TAXES WILL HAVE TO BE PAID. Chapter "12" provides for only adjusted payments of principal, interest, and taxes.

High taxes, low taxes, any taxes (if you can pay) cost less than CHAPTER TWELVE.

Some Teachers Say Treatment Good

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As an elementary teacher in the San Rafael District for the past nine years, I would like to say that there are many of us who feel that the adverse publicity that has been given the San Rafael School District by the very dramatic and spectacular accusations of the Board and the Administration are NOT the feeling of the whole faculty in San Rafael.

The elementary teachers have been well treated, given the best of materials with which to work, and although our class loads are high, and we have many extra duties (noon duty and bus duty), we feel that the Board and the Administration are doing their best to remedy these situations.

We are looking forward to duty-free noon periods this next year! And—gradually our class loads are being brought down as money and space permit. We also feel that the recent raise in salary was a great boost for our morale, since it will keep our good teachers and attract more good teachers to our area.

These improvements have been accomplished by methods which have not been spectacular nor dramatic, but professional and business-like. We feel that perhaps the best way to approach the Board and the Administration is to work WITH them for the best of all concerned.

U.S. Is Not A Peaceful Nation

Editor, Independent-Journal:

To remind ourselves that we are not a particularly peaceful nation — let me state that (1) we have been involved in seven major wars since our formation as a nation, and (2) one only has to compile newspaper clippings from any newspaper in the country EVERY DAY to deduce how crime and violence spreads across this country — increasingly.

One of our wars — a civil war (1860) supposedly freed human beings who had been owned (let me repeat that word, "owned") by other human beings — Americans — (let me repeat that word too, "AMERICANS" . . .) All this "owning" was going on while we shouted to the world how "democratic" we were! But it took ONE HUNDRED YEARS for the freedom of these people to begin to be a reality. All the while we were advertising ourselves as the champion of democratic ways of life . . . witness the venerable Woodrow Wilson — "make the world safe for democracy" . . .

The people who champion our involvement, militarily, all over the world, as the enactment of a false and fatal philosophy are, probably unknowingly, contributing to the inevitable destruction of their country as a nation — finally and at last. For one cannot live constantly from one year's end to the next, with a "billionistic' national deficit, and contribute hundreds of thousands of young men — the cream of the crop — to the deadly weapons of war and violence — and survive as a nation of importance . . . to say nothing of the miasma of immorality which permeates into the credo of a people who espouse militarism as a way of life . . .

And lest anyone should be tempted to shout "commie" at the writer of this letter, let me state no one could be less a "fellow traveler" than I, and that I have, moreover, belonged to the capitalistic class all my life — and my forebears for over 200 years before me . . .

Changes In Red China's Policies Will Come Slowly, If They Come

WASHINGTON (AP)—Much of American policy toward Red China is a guessing game, including the hope it will change its ways, and now there are rumbles there. But that doesn't mean change, if it comes, will come soon.

That there has been discontent with the present leadership in Red China has been clear for weeks, giving some support to the hope that in time, when younger leaders take over, some of the present fanaticism will disappear.

It is for this reason that so much of American policy toward Red China has been aimed at preventing the Chinese from gobbling up the rest of Asia now.

LAST MARCH Secretary of State Dean Rusk put it this way: "It is just as essential to 'contain' Communist aggression in Asia as it was, and is, to 'contain' Communist aggression in Europe."

In recent months there have been continued attacks on Chinese intellectuals by the government of Mao Tze-tung. But until now the dissidents have simply been rebuked or downgraded, so far as is known.

Now the Chinese government is attacking Ten To, once its leading spokesman as editor of the official People's Daily. There are indications he will be brought to trial and purged.

It might be the start of a far wider purge and thus become a repetition of what happened in Russia under Stalin in the 1930s. He began his purges in 1934, just 17 years after the Bolshevik revolution took Russia.

It's been almost 17 years since the Chinese Communists took control of the China mainland, making it seem that within less than a generation after a Red revolution younger people get fed up with the fanatic old masters.

THERE CAN BE no doubt Mao has wrought many beneficial changes for the Chinese people since he and his group of lieutenants, after two decades of trying, seized the mainland.

But the Chinese people have had a tough time on the road to progress. Meanwhile, the Mao leadership has made them hostile to most of the world with anti-Western and even anti-Russian propaganda.

At the same time the Chinese have seen their leadership suffer defeats and rebuffs around the world. They have nothing to look forward to but even more isolation from the rest of the world, including most of the Communist world.

To achieve Chinese magnificence Mao has insisted upon total conformity and acceptance of his leadership. The discontent of recent months shows the leadership is not being accepted totally.

THE PRESENT discontent may be crushed, just as Stalin crushed it during his lifetime in Russia. He was repudiated by his successors.

It's doubtful that would have happened if the West, led by the United States, had not "contained" Russia through a military alliance which prevented Stalin from grabbing Europe.

This early containment policy also was based on the hope that in time Russia might become less aggressive and easier to live with. Rusk expressed the same view about China:

"We must keep firmly in our minds that there is nothing eternal about the policies and attitudes of Communist China. Peking's present state of mind is a combination of aggressive arrogance and obsessions of its own making.

"We have little hope of changing the outlook of these leaders. They are the product of their entire lives. They seem to be immune to agreement or persuasion."

Castro Worries Over Defecting Athletes

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—The Johnson administration is flouting its own announced policy of containing and isolating Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

Visas are being given a large group of Cuban athletes and their secret police escort to go to San Juan, Puerto Rico, to participate in the 10th Central American and Caribbean Games from June 11 to 26.

More than 1,500 Western Hemisphere athletes will compete in these events, but the spotlight will be on the Cubans. This is the first time since the 1962 missile crisis that Cubans are being allowed to take part in these games.

The visit by an official Castroite team, the first on U.S. territory since he and his entourage appeared at the United Nations in 1960, was worked out in negotiations conducted by Swiss Ambassador Emil Stadelbofer, who is handling U.S. affairs in Havana.

STILL VERY MUCH up in the air is the route the Cubans will be allowed to use to go to Puerto Rico. Also whether the State Department will guarantee that none of the Castro athletes will be granted asylum should they defect while on U.S. soil.

Although Puerto Rico is a self-governing commonwealth, the U.S. controls immigration and entry there, and has the final say in granting asylum to foreigners.

Castro, who appears to be striving for propaganda victories both on the track and in the diplomatic arean, is boldly demanding the right to fly his athletes directly to San Juan on one of his Soviet airliners.

On explicit White House instructions, the State Department has rejected this demand on the ground that a direct flight cannot be made because of the absence of diplomatic relations btween the two countries.

Reportedly another factor in the State Department's stand was a warning from intelligence authorities that violently anti-Castro refugees in Puerto Rico might attempt to attack or seize the Cuban airliner.

UNDER A compromise proposed by the State Department, the Cuban athletes would go to Mexico or Jamaica, and then to Puerto Rico on a regular commercial plane.

The Cuban dictator's cocky demand that the U.S. refuse asylum to athletes who might defect may balloon into an even more explosive international controversy.

In clamoring for this guarantee, Castro is threatening to break off the secret "third party" negotiations on an exchange of political prisoners for millions of dollars of medical supplies.

These carefully guarded talks, which include the repatriation of several hundred U.S. nationals and dependents, are so touchy that officials won't even discuss them—although arrangements of some kind apparently have been agreed on and are being carried out in the greatest secrecy.

ONE UNCONFIRMED report from a usually well informed source is that medical supplies are being sent to Cuba on the planes airlifting refugees to the U.S.

The question of what to do about giving asylum to defecting Castro athletes is now in White House hands.

Congressional inquirers have been told no decision is expected unless Castro or his athletes force the issue. In other words, the administration is waiting to see what happens before taking a stand.

Nothing To Do With Elections, But Experts Like To Be Fooled

You can call this an election story if you like. Personally, I don't see any connection.

But every time an election rolls around, I think about my dad and the post master of Port Hueneme.

In addition to being post master, Art Haycox was also owner of a hardware store, an appliance service man and an emergency repair man.

MY DAD WAS sharp on economics, putting out a monthly newsletter on the stock market and at one time even speaking for a half hour each Sunday evening over the Santa Barbara radio station as an economics expert.

It was called "Lyttle Comments," and I do not believe there was any pun intended.

His office, where he was an executive in a small land investment firm, was in Port Hueneme, Ventura County.

ONE MORNING, he commented to Art Haycox that the Model A was getting very difficult to start. Art, who was on his way up the road to fix some plumbing, said he would take a look at it as soon as possible.

Dad was not an expert on mechanics. The Dow Jones Averages, yes, but mechanics no. Everything in front of the dashboard on his Model A was the inner sanctum to him.

On the way back from the plumbing job where he had put new innards in a toilet tank, Art took a look at the inner sanctum. He cleaned the spark plugs, adjusted the carburetor and started the car on the first try.

THEN ON A WHIM, Art dumped all the old fittings, the plug, the chain, the brass float, the valve and the pipes that he had removed from the toilet, onto the seat of dad's car.

"What was all that stuff you left behind?" Dad asked after thanking Art the next day.

Art shook his head and forced a frown. "As you can see, Herb, you have let that car get into pretty sad shape. You can tell how bad that stuff was worn. I had to replace all of it."

He never believed that anyone could be so hopelessly helpless on mechanical knowledge to believe that toilet parts made the car go. But he did not know Dad.

ART REPEATEDLY had to refuse the money this economics expert tried to offer for replacing all those "parts."

As Art recalled, the effusive thanks got a little embarrassing. It grew more and more difficult to explain that it was all a joke, but he finally had to confess to avoid accepting money.

He said my dad laughed until the tears ran down his face. I suppose that shows that even the experts like to be fooled.

For the life of me, though I can't figure out what it had to do with elections.

Will Sampson-Delilah Company Be Allowed To Buy United States?

WASHINGTON — Everytime you pick up the newspaper you read about one company merging with another company.

Of course, we have laws to protect competition in the United States, but one can't help thinking that, if the trend continues, the whole country will soon be merged into one large company.

It is 1978 and by this time every company east of the Mississippi will have merged into one giant corporation known as Samson Securities. Every company east of the Mississippi will have merged under an umbrella corporation known as the Delilah Company.

It is inevitable that one day the chairman of the board of Samson and the president of Delilah would meet and discuss merging their two companies.

"If we could get together," the president of Delilah said, "we would be able to finance your projects and you would be able to finance ours."

"Exactly what I was thinking," the chairman of Samson said. "Our only chance of survival in this country is to diversify, and if we merged, we wouldn't have to worry about unfair competition.

"I propose we trade our stock one share for one and set up the Samson and Delilah Corporation. Together we'll own the United States."

"That's a great idea and it certainly will make everyone's life less complicated."

AT FIRST the head of the Anti-Trust Division indicated that he might have reservations about allowing the only two companies left in the United States to merge.

"Our department," he said, "will take a close look at this proposed merger. It is our job to further competition in private business and industry, and if we allow Samson and Delilah to merge we may be doing the consumer a disservice."

The chairman of Samson protested vigorously that merging with Delilah would not stifle competition, but would help it.

"The public will be the true beneficiary of this merger," he said. "The larger we are, the more services we can perform, and the lower prices we can charge."

"BUT IF YOU merge," someone pointed out, "there will be only one company left in the United States."

"Exactly," said the president of Delilah. "Thank God for the free enterprise system."

The Anti-Trust Division of the Justice Department studied the merger for months. Finally the Attorney-General made his ruling:

"While we find some drawbacks to the only one company being left in the United States, we feel the advantages to the public far outweigh the disadvantages.

"Therefore, we're making an exception in this case and allowing Samson and Delilah to merge.

"I would also like to announce that the Samson and Delilah Company is now negotiating at the White House with the President to buy the United States. The Justice Department will naturally study this merger to see if it violates any of our strong anti-trust laws."

Auto Smog Device Hit As Political Football

Smog devices on automobiles were "a political football kicked by every politician for personal advantage," Leslie I. Hood of the Bay Area Air Pollution District told a conference in San Rafael Saturday.

Although steps had been taken to insure that some used and new cars had the device, he estimated it would be about ten years before all autos in California were fully controlled.

Such a method of controlling pollution would cost money, but as this money would come from the voters' pockets progress was not made as quickly as it should, he said.

Hood was sepaking at a conference sponsored by Marin Medical Society and attended by some of the state's top authorities on the management of air, water and soil pollution.

He said the total damage caused by air pollution was $35 a year per head of population. Total spent on methods to control it was 25 cents a head.

"If drastic steps are not taken to prevent the growth of air pollution now, it will be considerably more expensive in the future," he said.

People in the Bay Area often looked at Los Angeles and considered smog its particular problem.

But he said that if the Bay Area has as great a population as Los Angeles, smog over San Francisco would be considerably worse if no action was taken to curb it.

One reason was topography. Los Angeles is situated in a basin open at one end which provides for polluted air to be replaced from time to time.

The Bay Area, however, was almost totally surrounded by mountains. The inversion layer which formed each day "put a lid on the basin making it impossible for pollution to be borne away."

The first major source of air pollution was the automobile, he said, which discharged 1,000 tons of pollution each day. Back yard burning accounted for 250 tons a day.

Like most sepakers at the conference, Hood believed stricter controls were necessary.

Others who addressed the conference included Frank M. Stead of the state Department of Public Health; James C. McCarty of the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration; Curtis Richey of the U.S. Public Health Service and Chauncy D. Leake of the University of California Medical Center.

Driver, Rider Hurt In Crash

Two San Rafael women were treated for bruises at Marin General Hospital after a three-car collision at 9:15 a.m. yesterday at Third Street and Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

They are Grace P. Quan, 65, of China Camp, and Maxine I. Nilsen of 1108 Mission Avenue, a passenger with Mrs. Quan.

Cited for going through a red light was Joseph C. Galeoto, 72, of 11 Castlewood Drive, San Rafael.

Police said Galeoto's car hit another driven by Arthuro Rene Olivares, 28, of 24 Lisbon Street, San Rafael, causing it to hit the car driven by Mrs. Quan.

Peace Force May Remain, Balaguer Says

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — President-elect Joaquin Balaguer said yesterday he may keep the Inter-American Peace Force in the Dominican Republic after he is inaugurated July 1.

The 8,500-man force, most of it from the United States, will have to remain "until the problems of civilian disarmament and re-integration of the former rebel constitutionalist troops are resolved," Balaguer said in an interview.

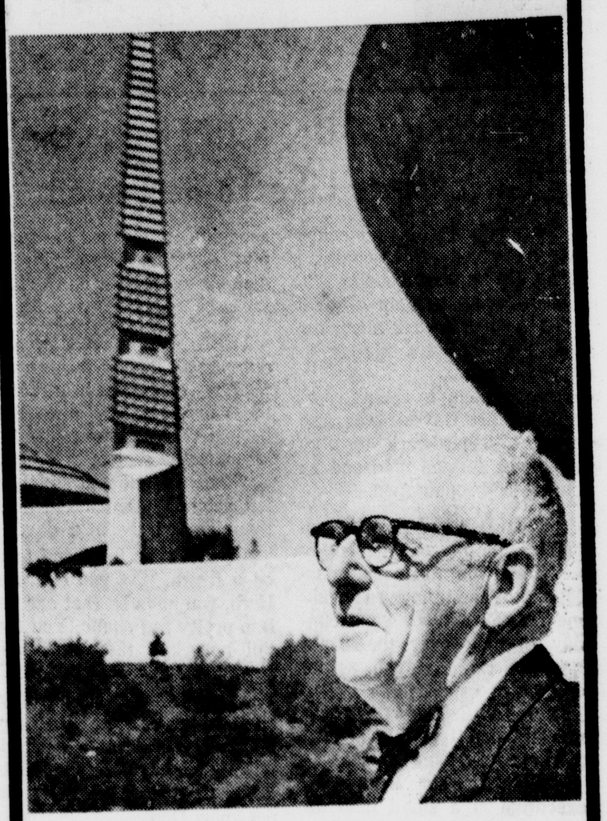

The Inter-American Peace Force grew out of the U. S. forces sent here during the April 1965 revolt to reinstate ex-President Juan Bosch. Balaguer defeated him in the election last week.

Civilian disarmament and the return of the rebel troops to the regular armed forces are two sticky problems that the outgoing provisional government failed to solve. Observers doubt they will be solved before Balaguer takes over.

Once a flickering flame

Gas utility service—as an American industry—is now 150 years old.

In its youth it was just a gas light. It has grown to serve vast fuel and energy needs of a robust, mushrooming nation.

And for you? Is the warmth your family enjoys gas heat? Is that breath of cool, fresh air on a scorching day from gas air conditioning?

Did you bake, boil or barbecue faster and easier today with natural gas?

Was the hot water for your dishes, baths and washing heated with gas?

Let's go to industry: Have you ever seen a massive steam boiler fired by gas? Or watched a natural gas torch slice through 16 inches of steel like so much suds in a sink?

Or, for that matter, did you realize that natural gas is one of the prime fuels for generating the electricity you use daily?

That's just part of what 150 years of growing young looks like; something very tangible, very vital.

GAS 150th ANNIVERSARY

You and millions of other Californians — at home and in industry — seem to agree, because for PG&E customer service today, that once flickering flame is...

Costing More To Feed Family

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A housewives' budget brigade concluded today that government price indexes fairly reflect a hard fact of life in the 1960s: it is costing more and more to feed the family.

Many housewives seem firmly convinced that food prices just about doubled in the past year. They didn't, but government figures, supported by an independent Associated Press survey in March, show that the cost of a typical week's shopping went up nearly 7 per cent.

Meats, however, have risen sharply. Based on the government's national price averages, it cost $6.22 to buy one pound each of sirloin steak, hamburger, pork chops, ham, bacon and lamb chops in mid-March, compared with $5.12 in mid-March of 1965 — a rise of 21.5 per cent.

BY CONTRAST, the other items on the shopping list of the AP's budget brigade rose only 1.5 per cent.

The AP's budget brigade figures, and the government's, should enable skeptical shoppers to judge for themselves. The AP housewives themselves started out highly skeptical on their 12-city spot survey.

They said food prices over-all were unquestionably high, although many a penny could be shaved off the grocery bill by determined bargain-hunting from store to store. Some made the point that few housewives can spare so much time from their other home-making duties.

IF A HOUSEWIFE does all shopping at one store, the researcher in St. Louis said, "It doesn't matter much which store you shop at — they'll get all your money anyway."

"Each store's weekly bargains really were bargains," she reported. "They cut off as much as 20 or 30 cents per item. But they seem to make it up somewhere else."

The Associated Press budget brigade priced a list of 38 to 40 food items, from potatoes to sirloin steak, in three supermarkets in each of the 12 cities on March 10.

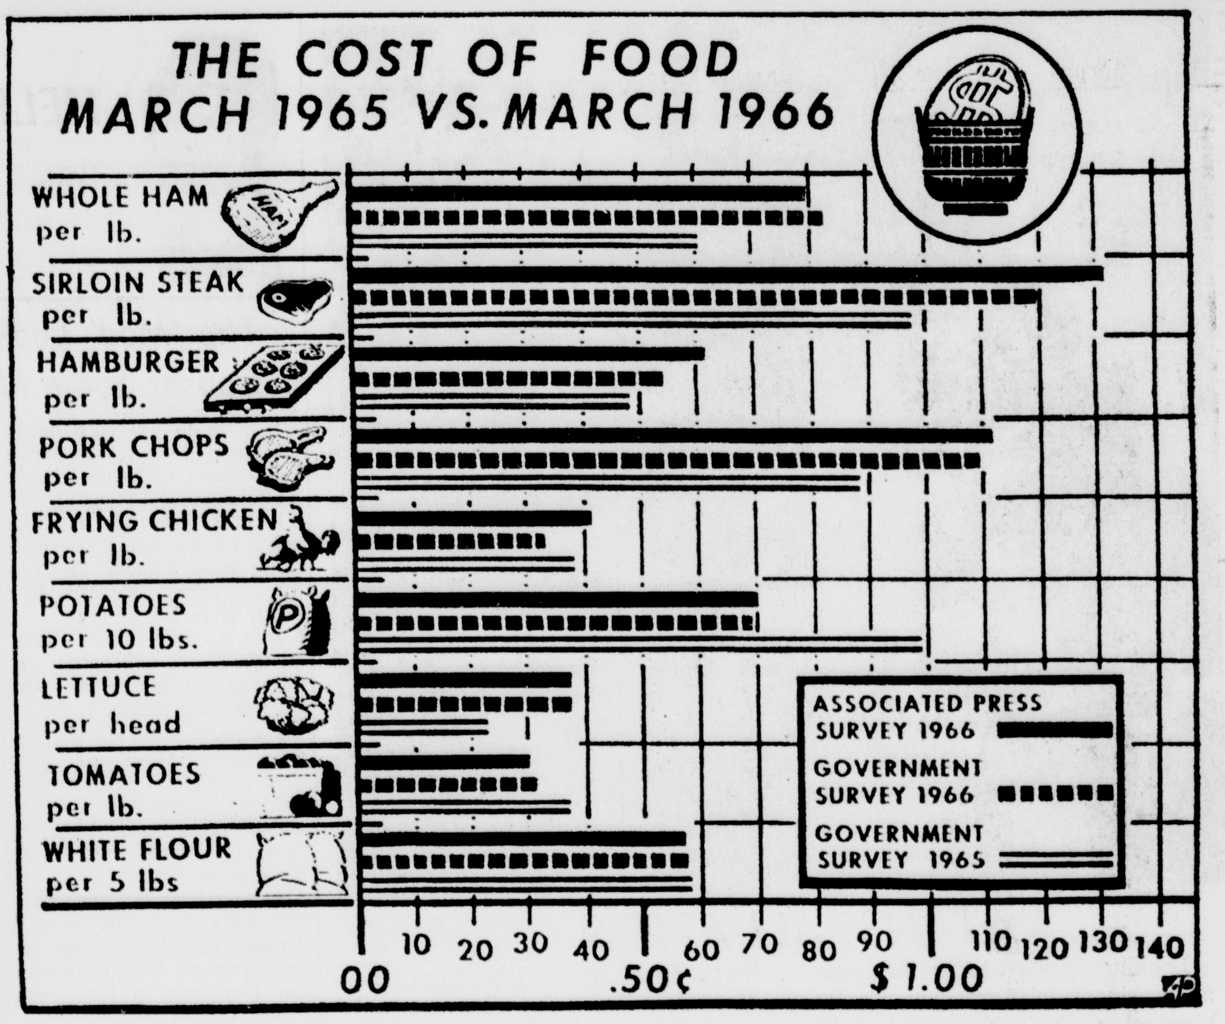

The results were set alongside returns from U.S. Department of Labor checkers who shopped a wider range of stores in the same cities at approximately the same time. The government checkers also cover stores in 50 smaller cities for which no price breakdown is published.

In the 12 cities where the AP paralled the government survey, average total bills were remarkably similar and in the case of St. Louis came out at precisely the same figure — $20.43.

THE GOVERNMENT goes about its monthly price-gathering in a coolly scientific way, using 125 checkers working under field supervisors and supervisors and supported by computers at home base. The AP survey was a matronly affair on a much smaller scale but following in the foootsteps of the government checkers.

HOW FOOD PRICES look to the housewife — This symbolic photo shows how the price of pork has increased in the past year. A government survey in March of 1965 said the national average for pork chops was 88 cents a pound. A survey in March, 1966, put the national average at $1.10 per pound.

THE CHANGING PRICE of food—Chart shows how typical food prices across the country changed between March, 1965, and March, 1966. Sources for the figures are the U.S. government and an independent Associated Press survey conducted by housewives in 12 U.S. cities. (AP Wirephotos)

Food prices make up only 22.5 per cent of the government's over-all cost of living index, which during the March-to-March period rose 2.5 per cent. However, it is food prices which the housewife encounters face to face every week and is most aware of.

BOTH AP and government checkers reported Cleveland to be the cheapest city for the over-all food bill. Government checkers came up with a figure of $19.67 for 39 items, and the AP housewife found the same items for $18.77.

Government checkers found San Francisco to be the costliest city, with an average price of $21.27 for 39 items compared with $19.70 reported by the AP checker. Costliest city in the AP survey was Boston, with a total of $21.06 compared with the government finding of $21.10.

In between the extremes came Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Washington, D.C. AP's San Francisco checker called recent price rises in meat "exorbitant."

Marin Women

"MY BUDGET is strained to the breaking point," commented the Cleveland housewife.

The housewife in Washington complained that "some basic items of diet have increased over the past year with no publicity — bread up 4 cents, milk up 4 cents, rice up 4 cents, potatoes up 15 to 25 cents for 10 pounds."

Said the Chicagoan: "The manager of a store I checked said he had 600 'voids' in the past week. A 'void' is where a customer finds he doesn't have enough money to pay for everything in his basket."

"All prices have skyrocketed but meat is extremely high," said the Pittsburgh reporter. The Baltimore surveyor said "an employe of one of the supermarkets included in my canvass claimed he is spending more time changing the shelf prices of goods than stocking the shelves themselves."

"The average housewife finds herself buying a lower quality item to keep her budget balanced," said the Detroiter. "I watch pennies closer than ever before."

THE AP BUDGET brigade turned up a wide spread in prices for individual items from store to store in the same city. But by the time they had priced all the items on the list, the total tended to be about the same.

In Balitimore, for example, one store had an 89-cent special on sirloin steak while a second store charged $1.19. Nevertheless the checker's total bill was $20.57 in the first store, $20.59 in the other.

Reports by both sets of checkers indicated that pork prices, which had been in orbit for months, were beginning to level out or decline, although still far higher than a year ago.

Government checkers reported an average price of $1.11.7 for pork chops in Baltimore compared with $1.17.7 in February and 93.2 cents in March 1965, $1.09.5 in Boston compared with $1.08.7 and 90.6 cents, $1.13.2 in Cleveland compared with $1.15.7 and 90.8 cents, and $1.07.6 in Detroit compared with $1.12.1 and 85.1 cents.

AP's budget brigade found their three-store average price for pork chops to be $1.17.7 in $1.11.3 in Cleveland and 99 cents in Detroit.

THE TENDENCY for food prices in general to level out was reflected in April statistics announced by the government a week ago showing that over-all food costs rose only .1 of 1 per cent over the March averages.

The AP budget brigade in general agreed that there are several ways to resist advancing prices. These include buying only the items on a prepared list, placing a limit on the total to be spent, eliminating luxuries and buying less expensive grades.

The AP's Detroit checker said advances in the processing of foods often beguile the shopper into spending more than she intended.

"Before, it was canned peas, now it's frozen peas with miniature onions or in mushroom sauce," she said. "Corn once came packed in water. Now it is frozen in pure butter."

The Cleveland member of the team remarked that "so complete and elegant an array of prepared foods now is on the market that I begin to suspect the cook may be done away with."

THE BUDGET brigade said shopping in several stores saves money, but may prolong the chore of buying the groceries beyond that which a busy housewife can spare.

The Philadelphia checker said: "I find it necessary to devote considerably more time to shopping all three stores to take advantage of their loss leaders and determine which stores have the better values."

The brigade's San Francisco housewife said she was surprised to find that "a market well known for its 'low prices' charged more for meat than another market considered high-priced for meat. This latter market was considerably lower in prices and its meat was superior."

AN ANALYSIS of the returns from the AP's surveyors showed that a housewife with unlimited time for shopping could have saved a substantial sum by ferreting out the lowest price for a given item at each of the three stores visited.

Thus the shopper in the Washington area ran up a bill averaging $20 for the 40 items priced. By switching from store to store she could have had them for $18.67.

The shopping list of the AP budget brigade included staple meats, fish and poultry, fruits, vegetables, canned goods, coffee, tea, sugar, eggs, butter, margarine, cheese, cereal and cold cuts.

THE TOTAL bill by cities (government figure first) follows:

Baltimore, $20.80 and $20.83; Boston, $32.10 and $21.06; Chicago $20.52 and $19.68; Cleveland, $19.67 and $18.77; Detroit, $19.82 and $19.53; Los Angeles, $20.38 and $19.02; New York, $20.68 and $20.10; Philadelphia, $20.42 and $19.89; Pittsburgh, $20.48 and $21.03; St. Louis, $20.43 and $20.43 same; San Francisco, $21.27 and $19.70; Washington, $20.98 and $20.

ITEM: Cost of Living—It's a case of mixed feelings, our drawing shows, as Junior leaves to pick up his date for the senior prom. A survey shows the nation's high school graduates will spend an average $150 each for the socially important function. Nini Vance Weds Donald J. Morosi

St. Sebastian's Church in Kentfield was the setting for the Saturday morning nuptials of Dominga Elena Vance and Donald John Morosi of San Rafael. The Rev. Raymond E. Kenny officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Vance of Kentfield, Nini, as the bride is known, wore a floor length gown of white satin and Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls and crystal beads.

Mrs. Michael Macondray Vance of Novato was matron of honor for her sister-in-law and the bridegroom's sister, Pamela Morosi, was the bridesmaid. The attendants wore full length pale yellow Empire style dresses of crepe and peau de soie.

James Korich of San Francisco served as best man and ushers were Carl Maiorino of San Mateo and Michael Vance of Novato.

A reception was given at the Vance home in Kentfield and yesterday the couple left for a Mexican wedding trip. They will live in San Rafael.

Nini was graduated from Redwood High School and attended the College of Marin. She made her debut at the 1963 Marin Debutante Ball.

Donald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Morosi of San Rafael. He was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended the University of San Francisco. Mrs. Benjamin Mollo of San Francisco is his grandmother.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

The 'Mod' Look From Housewife Causes Some Flack From Family

I wrote to you once before but haven't seen my answer in your column. Please don't ignore me this time. I'll repeat:

I am 27 years old, but look young for my age. I love most of the latest fashions—the poorboy sweaters, western look jeans, white leather heel boots. I wear my hair straight, below my shoulders, with bangs. I'm tall and not heavy, so I can manage these styles.

Now my husband and his relatives are old-fashioned. They want me to wear housedresses, and say, "You're a married woman, dress like it!" They're trying to put me back to the 18th Century.

My own folks tell me I look nice; and I love to look "sharp." His folks are all heavy and let themselves go. They don't care how they look on the street. I think they're jealous.

No wonder husbands spend so much time in bars, when wives look like that. Yet my husband wants me to be like them. Ugh!

Please print, and tell me, should I—FIGHT THEM OR JOIN THEM?

DEAR FT OR JT:

You have only just begun to fight! There'll be no "joining them" when your in-laws read the letter you insisted I print.

If your clothes are as "sharp" as your tongue I suggest you tone down both, or else hope your husband takes you out of his family orbit. He may learn to like the "mod" look, but the "ugly ducklings" will never accept a swan!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Your answer to "Animal Lover" was most correct about the atrocities suffered by animals before they reach experimental laboratories, but then you said, "Once in laboratories, I'm told they aren't allowed to suffer."

You're dead wrong! Since joining the Humane Society, I've found out differently. Animals in some labs are treated with incredible brutality. They are not given anesthetics to relieve pain during experimentation, nor allowed any postoperative care. Overcrowding and lack of food and water are the norm, not the exception. At one university 1,400 animals are kept in cramped cages, piled three tiers high, never allowed out, and they are hosed down with their cages, even when sick.

Medical research is necessary, but savage brutality is not. It can be ended with the passage of the Rogers-McIntyre Bill, which will eliminate brutality, but will not hinder research. A copy of the Rogers-McIntyre Bill will be sent free by the Humane Society, on request. It's address is 1145 - 19th St., N. W., Washington, D.C., 20036.—PEGGY

DEAR PEGGY:

Dozens of people told me I had been misinformed about humane treatment of animals in medical laboratories, and they sent documentary evidence to prove it. If this goes on, it should be stopped. But I can't believe it is the "norm." All researchers aren't savages. I simply won't buy that! —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Somebody in your column said, "I actually saw a man's sock being darned." Possible but not probable. Women stopped darning men's socks when stretch hose came in. Ever try to darn one? It can't be done! —EX-DARNER

DEAR HELEN:

Will your readers send a shower of cards to a lonely person?

Mrs. Anna Sztranyai, 167 Sixth Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y., 11217, was 99 March 25. Our "Grandma" came to this country in 1958, is delightful, active, though doesn't get around as much as she would like to. She was born in Hungary. One son was killed by the Russians, a second came home to die, after being a prisoner of war. Two daughters were taken to Russia. One died in a mental hospital there, the other of T.B. She has one living son and three stepchildren, all of whom love her. Picture post cards would cheer her.—K.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help You. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

SEW SIMPLE

Old Draperies Are Camper Bedspread

This is the season for little campers and, since my youngest girl will be going away for her first overnight camp, I thought I'd exchange a few ideas with you that Mrs. Wiggins and I discussed about camp clothing.

First, she says that most camps require a bedspread for camp cots. Instead of going out and buying one, or sending one that is so big it hangs all over the floor, take the pleats out of half of a pair of cotton drapes. Almost everyone has some stored away that were too good to throw away. The drapery fabric won't wrinkle, it's usually cotton, and the children can't ruin it.

Most of all, she stresses sending your children off in their very oldest and most practical clothes, something they can't possibly ruin. If they do, they won't have to be afraid to face the music. Too many children go away with beautifully coordinated sports clothes and consequently are afraid to enjoy themselves. A funny and wonderful thing about children is that they can have a great time with each other completely unaware of what they are wearing.

Try to double up on a few things, such as a terry cloth robe that can double as a bathrobe (camps get chilly at night). Trousers that have become too short can be cut off and made into "long shorts the boys are wearing." If your child is staying more than one week, be sure everything you send is marked and that the clothes can be dumped into the camp laundry without colors fading.

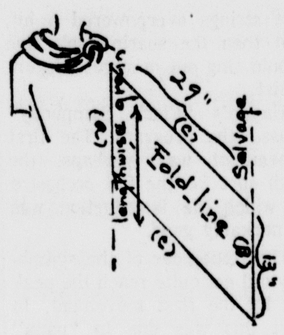

In other words, think of the fun your child will have and forget the fashionable clothes for once.

I would appreciate hearing about other ideas you may have for campers. We can all share our ideas if you'll write Sew Simple in care of this paper.

I was sewing without thinking, as you have always warned us not to do, and put an organdy collar over a regular suit collar. I tailored it the same way, completely facing it, grading the seams, clipping and notching curves, and you know the rest of the story, it looked awful. What did you tell us to do about seams on this type of "see-through" fabric?—MRS. A. T.

DEAR MRS. A. T.:

When you are working with organdy for collars, jackets, etc., you must treat the seams differently. Do not grade the seams. Trim all faced edges carefully so that only about ⅛ inch of the seam extends. This small seam will make it unnecessary to clip or notch out the curves. Any regular seams usually are made with a French seam finish to cover up the raw edges. Usually there is no interfacing or underlining used. The beauty of organdy is the delicate texture of the fabric.

"While expecting my last baby, I made myself two maternity jumpers. After the baby came, I no longer needed the jumpers so I remade them into slightly flared skirts.

"They are comfortable when you haven't quite got your figure back. They turned out so well though I'd like to share the idea with others."

For this idea, this week's Tailor Trix pressing board goes to Mrs. Robert Norman, Jr., Lawndale, N.C.

Please repeat the instructions for a "smoke ring."—MRS. C. R.

DEAR MRS. C. R.:

Summer is a perfect time for the use of the smoke ring. It can be a very dramatic accessory to a simple dress and can be changed easily.

Printed voiles, silk and chiffon are perfect for this use. First, notice the grain line arrow on the sketch. The long edge (c) is 29 inches long and is cut on the true bias. It usually is cut 13 inches wide. The two short sides are cut on the straight grain. The size could vary according to your individual preference.

After cutting, pin the two long edges (right sides) together, and stitch a ¼-inch seam to within 2 inches of each end. Press seams open and turn right side out (it will form a tube).

Pin short sides (a) and (b) right sides together and stitch. Press open. Turn in the seam allowance on the section left open on the long side and slip stitch together.

Caribbean Braces For First Storm

MIAMI (UPI) —Tropicul storm Alma, the first of the season, developed today out of a rainy low pressure area in the northwestern Caribbean Sea and aimed its 60 mile an hour winds toward the north-northeast.

The Weather Bureau said Alma, which was classified a tropical storm just six days after the official start of the 1966 hurricane season, may intensify to "near hurricane force during the next 12 to 18 hours."

The tropical storm, which was packing top winds of 55 to 60 miles an hour in squalls, grew out of a tropical depression and low pressure area that was discovered early Sunday in the northwestern Caribbean Sea near tiny Swan Island.

At 9 a.m., EDT, the center of Alma was located near latitude 17.9 north and longitude 84.1 west. This is about 370 miles south-southwest of Havana, Cuba.

MUSIC REVIEW

Community Effort Is Fully Satisfying

By HYMAN I. KRONGARD

In a program admirably suited to its capabilities, the College of Marin community orchestra presented works by Nicolai, Bach and Haydn in its spring concert at the college gym Saturday night.

The 55-member orchestra is, principally, an "educational experience" for its overwhelming number of non-professional players, but it comes out music—fine music fully satisfying to a large but not large enough audience.

The group and John H. Myers, its director, may be justly proud of the enormous growth in musicianship, in blend, tonal beauty and sensitivity to style, nuance and phrase, which marked its performance.

This became apparent from the beginning in the controlled, eloquent lyricism of the strings in the slow opening of the Nicolai "Merry Wives of Windsor" overture, and in the precise, colorful playing of the gay, sprightly music of the work's last section.

Featured in the solo flute role in the Bach "Suite Number Two, in B Minor, for Flute and Strings" was John Lagerquist, nephew of the conductor. This gifted young man of 15, whose father, Robert Lagerquist, was harpsichordist for the suite, lost no time in becoming one with the mature musicians about him.

His delicately shaded and phrased tone gave the string fabric a lovely quality. Perhaps, particularly in the low register, the strings overpowered a bit, but then the soaring solo line would sing out in sweet, elegant relief.

Haydn's "Clock Symphony" closed the program. The first movement was, perhaps, the high spot for the full orchestra in which the introduction was remarkably good.

The remainder of the symphony did not quite reach the peak set by the first movement. In part this was due to "papa" Haydn who, probably with tongue in cheek, called the overlong third movement a "minuetto" (little minuet). Even Myers's fine reading could not make it seem shorter. Judicious cutting would make it more effective listening for modern ears.

This group is not the place to look for, nor will this reviewer stress, the occasional flatted note or rough entrance. These infrequent deviations did not lessen the high quality of the performance of the enjoyment derived therefrom.

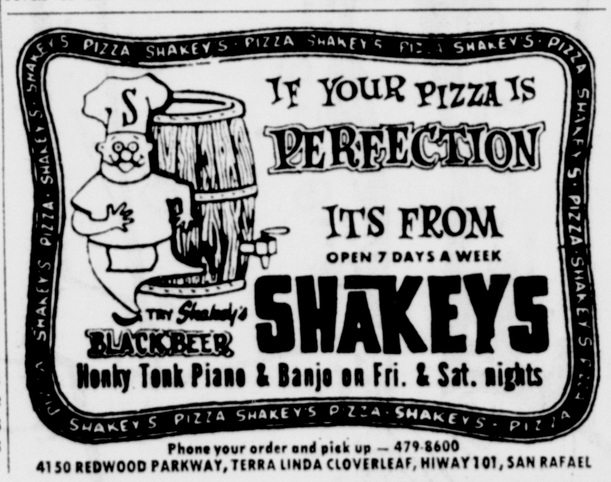

Instrumentalists in the area should be interested in membership in the college's summer band program. A six-week session beginning June 20, with rehearsals on Monday and Wednesday evenings, will give the participants — and the community — an opportunity to enjoy two outdoor concerts.

Edna Maguire Plans Two Special Events

Two special events will be presented this week to students at Mill Valley's Edna Maguire school.

The school drama club will present a play tomorrow called "Sorry, Wrong Number," and the College of Marin Workshop will present scenes from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" and Menotti's "The Old Maid and the Thief" on Thursday. Both events are during school assemblies.

County Sets Auction Of Surplus Items

Surplus cars, station wagons, pickups, dump trucks and backhoes will be offered at auction at the Marin Civic Center parking lot June 18.

Commercial auctioneer Ken Porter of Santa Barbara will start the sale at 10:30 a.m.

County purchasing agent John Hettrich said the county gets a better deal auctioning the vehicles than it would on trade-ins with new purchases.

Included in the sale is a 195 Chevrolet half-ton pickup with a dump body, entered by the town of Corte Madera. All others are county vehicles.

Interested persons may inspect the vehicles from 9 and 3 p.m., June 17 and again at 9 a.m. the day of the sale. Bidders must be prepared to put down 25 per cent deposit in cash or cashier's check at the sale and pay the balance no later than June 21, Hettrich said. Minors are not allowed to bid.

Two Youths Charged With Car Tampering

Two San Franciscan were apprehended by Sausalito police at 4:10 a.m. yesterday when they were found allegedly ransacking sports cars Bulkley Avenue in Sausalito in search of car seats.

Ernest A. Gill Jr., 19, was placed in County Jail and a 17-year-old youth was taken to Juvenile Hall. Both were charged with petty theft and tampering with a vehicle.

ART REVIEW

Prize Winners Reflect Standards Of The Show

A prize winning work of art usually reflects the standards of the show in which it won the award. The sources represented in the Marin Society of Artists' 1964-1965 Prize Winners exhibit range anywhere from open shows with unjuried entries to difficult regional and national competitions. Such latitude accounts for both the distracting size and unevenness of the Prize Winners as a show as well as the fact that it includes much outstanding work.

Usually, the more important the show the stronger the work must be, especially to win and during the past two years MSA members have won their share of honors in some notable exhibitions.

Most multiple winners (for whom limited samples are shown) are in that category. Avis DeMonte lists 12 awards in shows including the Oakland Art Annual, Jack London Festival and the California State Fair. Ada Garfinkle's eight painting awards include the Kingsley Annual and Preview '65 and among Gwen Stone's many prizes are those received in the National Small Painting Exhibitions and the Delta Art Association.

All three placed in the Walnut Creek Annual which, along with the State Fair and the MSA Annual, produced the largest groups of consistently good painting in the current MSA exhibit. And these three shows plus the San Francisco Potters Assn. and the MSA exhibit. And these three shows plus the San Francisco Potters Assn. and the MSA Crafts Annual provided most of the pots and jewelry, an award group of overall high standards.

Another annual producing very personal statements was that of the San Francisco Women Artists. The Prize Winners include three, a thickly encrusted mosaic by Helen Steinau Rich, an ornate, garish and thoroughly delightful painting, "Waiting For The Prodigal" by M. M. Horton and a relief of black-sprayed jackstones, a toothbrush and other found materials by Mary Case Dekker.

Marin County competitions are also well represented. In addition to many fine paintings and crafts from MSA Annuals there are several County Fair winners, including "Morning Sun" by Rose O'Kane and "Whistle Stop" by Bette Klopf, the top oil winners for 1964 and 1965 respectively. And in case you missed the exhibits the first time, Barbara Stonecipher's whimsical portrait of Gwen Stone is there as is Phoebe Deignan's soft and sensitive oil, "Yellow Day" from the juried section of the Mill Valley Arts Festival.

'Hold' Policy On Salaries On Agenda

A "hold it there" policy on Marin County personnel salary increases will be among measures sought by Marin Property Owners, at a meeting Wednesday noon in Nero's Restaurant, Ignacio.

The association will ask the board of supervisors to freeze the county tax rate at its present level until "special studies of county expenditures can be completed," said Alfred J. Bianchi, president.

The hold on salary increases, he said, should apply throughout except in hardship cases or in departments where increases could be equalized by cuts in other department expenditures.

Michael Mitchell, county auditor-controller, will explain the proposed budget to members.

Bianchi said the property owners believed there should be centralized control over "the mounting cost" of the county's public schools, similar to practices in private industry.

He said members will also consider asking state and county legislation to bring relief to property owners by using other taxes to supply money needed for county services.

Pentagon Confirms Hiking Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without announcing it, the Defense Department hiked its May and June draft calls by a total of 9,500 men.

The Pentagon acknowledged this today in response to questions, but described the increases as routine revision made because Army volunteer enlistments were less than anticipated.

VOTE SHIFTS BOARD SESSION

County offices at the Civic Center and the courthouse will be closed tomorrow in compliance with state law. Tomorrow is election day.

The county board of supervisors' meeting, regularly held on Tuesdays, will be held at 9 a.m. Friday at the Civic Center.

Cluster Project Before Council

Edgewood Park, Mill Valley's first planned residential "cluster type" development on Edgewood Avenue will get a hearing before the city council at an 8 p.m. meeting today in city hall.

The master plan calls for 18 of the 20 single family homes to be clustered together and for five of the 11 acre parcel to be left as open area for the public.

Also on the agenda is the awarding of a community antenna television franchise, first reading of an ordinance spelling out new sign regulations and discussion of the Blithedale Park subdivision assessment district.

Mother Weighs A Quarter Ton

DALLAS (UPI) —A 10-pound baby and its 502-pound mother were reported doing well today at Parkland Hospital.

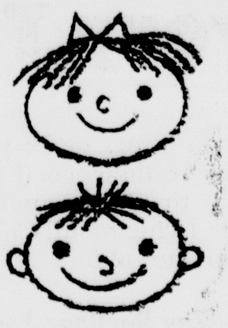

The woman gave birth yesterday. She had arrived Wednesday night but doctors at first were not sure she was pregnant.

It took seven men to lift her into bed. She was weighed on a grocery scale.

Parkland authorities said the woman's two other children were also born in the hospital.

The new mother asked that her name not be released.

"Employers are offering jobs to graduates at a record pace," said Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, with some starting salaries ranging to $850 a month or more.

The greatest demand is for graduates in scientific and technical fields, such as engineering, chemistry, physics and mathematics, Wirtz said.

TUNNEL WORK BEGINS TO TAKE SHAPE

Musser Says McCarthy On Sample Ballot

State Sen. John F. McCarthy's name was not left off any sample ballot, elections supervisor John Musser declared today.

He said he had called Senator McCarthy Saturday, after he read published reports that McCarthy's name was not on the sample ballot.

Senator McCarthy today acknowledged he had received a call from Musser. "I'm satisfied now that everything is going to be all right," said McCarthy.

The State Senator said his name was on the sample ballot, but the number corresponding to his name was not on the sample IBM card that was mailed out with each sample ballot.

"There were about six of those numbers left off," said McCarthy, "but we understand they have been corrected, and everything will be in order for tomorrow's election."

Realtors' Program To Center On Money

"The Problem of Money, Money, Where is the Money?" will be the topic for a panel discussion at the breakfast meeting of the Marin County Real Estate Board tomorrow at 8 a.m. at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant on San Rafael.

Daniel C. Davis of the Wells Fargo Bank, Fred F. Enemark of Marin County Savings, and Frederick A. Mehrten of San Rafael Mortgage will make up the panel.

Much-Discussed Park Bonds Go Before Voters Tomorrow

Measure A on tomorrow's ballot for Marin voters will be the much-discussed bond issue that would raise $4.3 million through sale of general obligation bonds to finance park purchase and development both within the county's cities and in unincorporated areas.

Approval of the measure would add 4.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation to the county property tax.

Under the proposal, $1.8 million would be used toward land acquisition in unincorporated areas, and $200,000 would be used toward development of these properties.

It is expected that this county bond money would bring additional state and federal funds through conservation and open space grants.

Cities and five districts providing recreation would divide the balance of $2.3 million on the basis of $16.77 per capita.

City councils and district boards would have a free hand in determining how their bond money should be used toward park purchase, development, and recreation programs.

Argument most often heard against the park bond is that any extra tax these days is simply too much.

Proponents of the bonds, headed by Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and Peter H. Behr, argue that the time is running out for acquisition of land. Prices are going up and this is the time to act.

"It is the last best chance to preserve and develop this county's unique areas essential to the benefit of all living in Marin, and the keystone to development of Marin's economy as a major visitor attraction," Kettenhofen and Behr declared in a campaign statement.

Because matching funds, which the proponents say could total $3.46 million, have not been tied down, the parks to be developed from the county's priority list are not certain.

This has brought considerable criticism from opponents, but supervisors recently promised that no change in priorities would be made without public hearing.

The priorities on the A list, meaning those of the greatest county-wide importance, are Stafford Lake, Bolinas Lagoon Tideland purchase, China Camp, Tomales Tidelands, Manzanita Marina Green, Phoenix Lake, Chileno Valley, and Kentfield Park.

Those on the B list, indicating less county-wide import, are Nicasio Reservoir, Gallinas Creek, West Marin Island, Black Point Marina, Bolinas-Stinson Beach boat access, Paganini Point, and San Geronimo redwoods.

Under the allocation plan the amount to go to cities would be $40,489 for Belvedere, $131,285 for Corte Madera, $122,922 for Fairfax, $129,747 for Larkspur, $193,351 for Mill Valley, $415,757 for Novato, $44,165 for Ross, $218,584 for San Anselmo, $511,738 for San Rafael, $111,137 for Sausalito, and $80,895 for Tiburon.

Tiburon city council has complained that the population figure used for that city was too low. Supervisors said that an additional sum of about $16,800 could be drawn from the county's portion of the bond proceeds to satisfy the complaint.

The funds to be distributed to districts would be $67,080 to the Marinwood Community Services District, $100,620 to the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District, $41,375 to the Strawberry Recreation District, $26,500 to the Marin City Community Services District and $41,925 to the Gallinas Village Community Services District.

Seven Marinites Enlist In Navy

Ronald J. Paris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard K. Paris of 1113 Second Street, Novato, Douglas H. G. Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. W. Sullivan of 11 Durham Road, San Anselmo, and David J. Winter, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Winter of 1665 Novato Boulevard, Novato, will go into basic training immedately in San Diego.

Enlisting in the "join now, go later" program were Scott R. Cail, son of Mrs. Lois J. Cail of 104 Las Flores Avenue, San Rafael; Christopher O. Olavsen, son of Ofelia M. Craft of 10 Regent Court, Novato; John M. Soden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard W. Soden of 216 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael, and James S. Ures, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Ures of 3 Vista Way, Fairfax.

Tiburon Group Pushes For New High School

A committee of Tiburon residents has formed under chairmanship of Leo Souza to push for speed on construction of a high school to serve the Tiburon Peninsula.

Formation of the committee, which already has held two meetings, was announced by Souza in a letter to the Tamalpais High School District Board, to be presented at its meeting tonight.

Souza said "Tiburon people feel generally that the high school be included in the next bond issue, in lieu of adding to the size of Redwood High School."

He said the committee of 25 members was "relating this intention to the board and offering its services for immediate action."

He said the Tiburon committee wants to work on a district-wide bond issue for the school construction. "We're willing to join with Drake (high school) residents to solve their problems as well as our own," he said.

The district has been negotiating for many months for a 47-acre high school site on a knoll above Belveron Gardens in Tiburon. It has had difficulty acquiring the site because 110 owners are involved.

The subject of a Tiburon Peninsula high school has been a source of contention between residents and the district. A San Geronimo Valley site has already been bought from 1961 bond issue funds.

According to Souza, peninsula students now travel the farthest in the district to attend classes at Redwood High School in Larkspur-Corte Madera.

Four-Month Meter Theft Term Slated

Charles R. Herren, 61-year-old San Rafael parking meter collector convicted of embezzling meter funds, was sentenced today to serve four months in Marin County Jail and placed on probation for five years.

Sentence was passed in Marin Superior Court by Judge Richard Chamberlain, visiting from Alameda County. He denied a motion that safe deposit boxes belonging to Herren be searched for alleged missing loot.

According to evidence at the trial, Herren took about $7 a day over a long period from meters, caching the money in bags and cigar boxes in his home at 3 Bayview Street, San Rafael.

Judge Chamberlain told him: "As a public employee you violated the trust placed in you and the court would be quite justified in sentencing you to from one to 10 years in state prison."

He said, however, he was taking into consideration Herren's age and previous clean record.

Herren was ordered to make restitution of $3,500.

In his recommendation of sentence, Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw asked that restitution be $7,500, the figure he claimed was stolen. He also asked that permission be granted to have safe deposit boxes opened in an effort to return the money.

Merrydale Apartment Zone Applicants Withdraw Plan

A much-debated request for rezoning of 10 parcels on Merrydale Road, before both the county Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors at various times in the last 10 months, was withdrawn by applicants today.

Planning commissioners received the news without comment.

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said he met with the applicants, owners of the 10 lots now zoned for single family use, on May 24 and argued that the time was not right for a change to apartment zoning as requested.

Main objection raised by both planning commission and supervisors in the past was that 10 individual apartment developments were not appropriate and owners should get together.

The planning commisison today continued again the proposed rezoning of 500 acres east of the county airport from agricultural to resort-commercial recreation. Commissioners put the proposal off until Sept. 12, asking the planning staff to give it more study.

Also continued, this to July 25, was the request of John P. and Fern Eichorn for a change from business and professional to commercial zone on 24,000 square feet on the east side of Reed Boulevard south of Knoll Lane in the Alto Area.

Accident Victim Out Of Intensive Care

Michelle Plaa of San Anselmo, injured in an accident May 28 in San Anselmo which took the lives of two persons, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital, and was no longer in the hospital's intensive care unit.

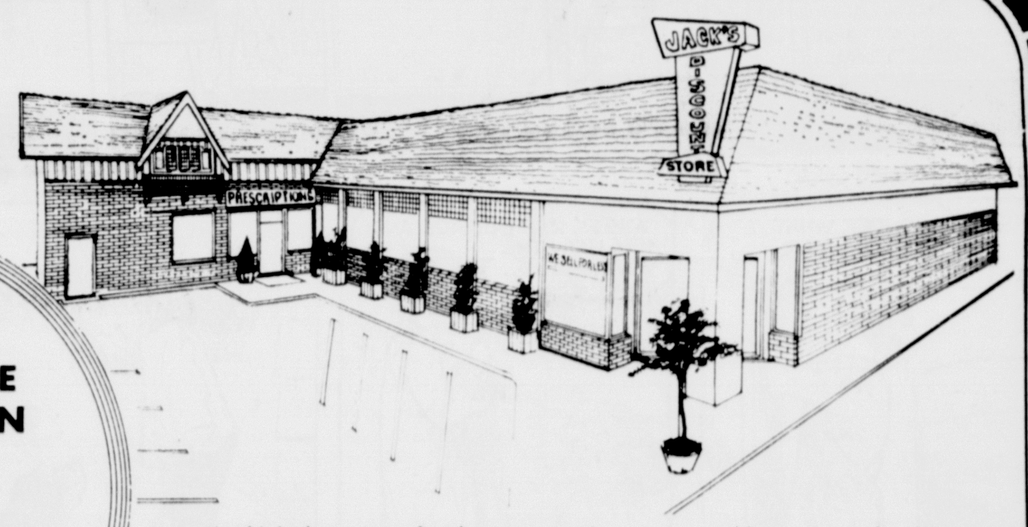

The accident at the Hub in San Anselmo took the lives of Robert Glenn Lezzeni of Fairfax and Edward Snyder of San Rafael.

Mental Health Center Gets Aid

A $3,000 contribution to the fund-raising campaign for the Community Mental Health Center to be built next to Marin General Hospital has been made by the Bothin Helping Fund of San Francisco.

The Board of Supervisors and the Marin Hospital District are sponsoring the center to provide psychiatric care for private and public patients able to make only partial payment.

The federal and state governments are matching local contributions on a 2-for-1 basis and the center is expected to cost $1.5 million.

We Resolve
TO BRING TO THE PEOPLE OF MARIN
LOW PRESCRIPTION PRICES

The high drug costs of today are a serious money problem to many families, especially to those with fixed income and those with chronic illnesses. As a solution to this problem we apply modern methods to the prescription department by selling at low prices, thus producing volume sales. This decreases costs and overhead. The result will be low prices for you and we believe a low cost prescription service is just what the public wants.

HERE'S WHY WE CAN DO IT:

1. We have reduced our overhead by closing at 6:00 p.m. every day—a saving which we pass on to you.
2. We own our building and parking lot—there is no rent to pay — a saving which we pass on to you.
3. Ours is a self-service store—serve yourself and save—a saving which we pass on to you.
4. We do a big business—we buy in big volume, thus we buy at a lower cost—a saving which we pass on to you.
5. We buy from a discount-store wholesaler in San Francisco (the only drug store in Marin having this privilege). Again we buy at a lower cost—a saving which we pass on to you.
6. Our employees have all been with us many years—they are happy here and they try harder—thus a saving by efficient operation—a saving which we pass on to you.
7. In many drug stores the profit from the prescription department carries the "front end" of the store—not so at JACK'S. We do a big volume of business in the "front end" of our store—stop in to see our low prices and great variety of merchandise and you will understand why—another saving which we pass on to you.
8. Last but not least, we just plain take a smaller mark up on merchandise and on prescriptions—a saving which we pass on to you.

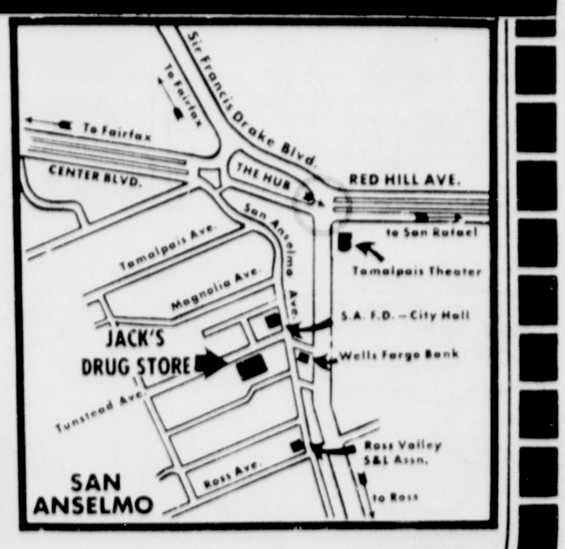

We MEET or BEAT any prescription price. We will NOT be undersold

We can refill any refillable prescription regardless of where it was originally filled. We will be happy to call your physician for his authorization.

Next time you need a prescription try us just once and find out for yourself about

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, June 6, the 157th day of 1966 with 208 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter; the morning stars are Venus and Saturn; the evening star is Jupiter.

The evening star is Jupiter.

American patriot Nathan Hale was born on this day in 1755.

On this day in history:

In 1816, 10 inches of snow fell in New England beginning the so-called "year in which there was no summer."

In 1933, a motion picture drive-in theater, the first of its kind, opened in Camden, N.J.

In 1944, D-Day began, the greatest invasion the world had ever known, under the command of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

In 1962, leaders of the secret army organization in Algeria called on their followers to resume terrorist activities against independence groups.

A thought for the day — American humorist James Thurber said: "Humor is emotional chaos remembered in tranquility."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You Don't Have To Waste Trump To Accomplish Trump Finesse

The easiest way to take a diamond finesse is to lead a diamond.

A more devious way, possible only if diamonds are trumps, is to lead a side suit when you are ready to over-ruff the opponent. This devious way may help you keep one trump for other purposes.

6 ◇	All Pass

Opening lead — ♡ Q

South ruffs the second round of hearts and leads the ace of diamonds, expecting an easy time.

West discards a heart, and South must revise his expectations.

RISK OF LOSS

South must finesse to draw East's trumps, but he will wind up in the garbage can if he uses one of dummy's trumps for the finesse.

Suppose South leads a club to dummy's king and returns a trump. Declarer can win a finesse with the ten of diamonds and can then draw the rest of the trumps.

But then dummy is out of trumps and neither the spades nor the clubs can be run.

CASH SPADES

Then he leads the ace of spades from dummy.

East cannot stay out of trouble by failing to ruff.

Declarer can then lead three good spades from dummy and discard three low clubs from his hand. He will still be in dummy, so can lead a trump for the finesse.

South draws all of the trumps and takes the last trick with the ace of clubs.

If East ruffs a spade, South over-ruffs.

This is a sort of finesse, and South draws the rest of the trumps. The vital difference is that one trump is still left in dummy.

South cashes the ace of clubs and ruffs a club, after which dummy wins the rest of the tricks with any spades that are still left.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ A J 6 5 2
♥ K 4
♦ 8 7 5 3
♣ K 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You have 11 points in high cards and 2 points for the doubletons, enough for an optional opening bid.

In this case you decide against the bid because your spot-cards are worthless.

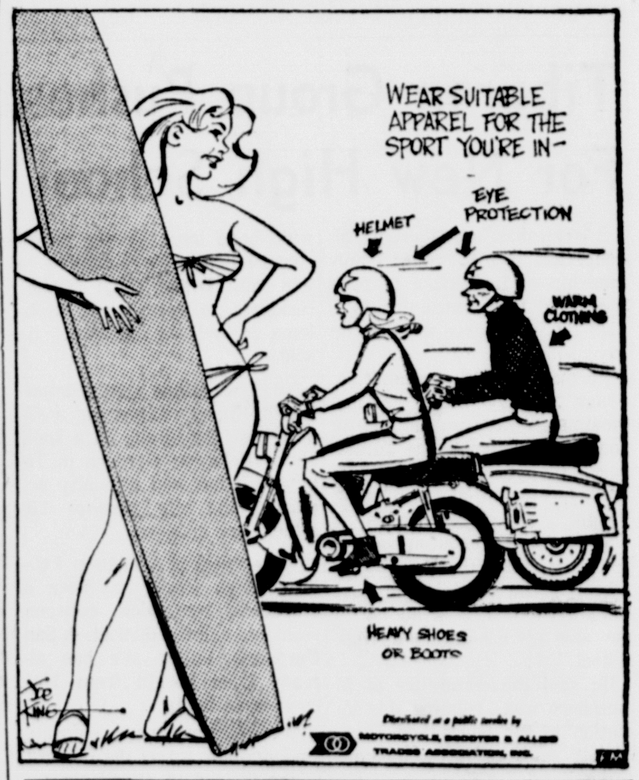

Put a sprinkling of tens and nines in the hand and you would open the bidding with one spade.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Baldness May Indicate Evolution Process Continuing For Humans

VAN DELLEN

Ordinary baldness that occurs in men may be an evolutionary process. Many centuries ago man was as hairy as a monkey and even sprouted a tail, but gradually he became less hairy and lost his appendage.

The baldies of today may represent a preview of what all men will look like in years to come. This is theoretical, but makes more sense than the talk we hear on supposed causes: wearing a tight hat or no hat, shampooing too frequently, or sexiness.

We do not know where the ladies enter the picture because the incidence of balding is increasing among the fairer sex, especially after the age of 50.

IS THEIR HAIR damage caused by harsh coloring chemicals, tight rollers, and the "ratting" needed to achieve current coiffures or is evolution catching up with them? At any rate, the wigmakers are happy and will remain so unless human hair gets more difficult to obtain.

We are not entirely in the dark insofar as the origin of ordinary male baldness is concerned. Heredity plays a role.

Some men have a little fringe above their ears just as did their father, grandfather and great-grandfather. In this respect, the trait is passed along like curly hair, brown eyes, or an overhanging brow.

MALE SEX hormones may play a role, and the latest remedy includes a daily testosterone massage. The remedy has been successful when the root (hair-bearing follicles) are viable.

After several months fuzz appears, mimicking a second-rate crew cut. It is also possible to transplant tufts of hair from the fringe area to the top of the head. However, if the fringe hair was destined to fall out, in time, it will do so regardless of its new location.

"BEFORE AND After" pictures of scalp treatment are not fakes. Study the "before" picture and note that the loss of hair is patchy or total and not the same pattern as seen in hereditary baldness.

Mental shock, nervousness, injury, infection, or toxins could be responsible. With proper care, hair can be restored in the majority of victims with this type of baldness.

RABBIT FOOD

P. O. writes: I eat lettuce in order to maintain my weight. Is it harmful to my digestion to consume one to two heads a day?

REPLY

No, and I hope you are careful about the rest of your diet to compensate for the monotony of eating two heads of lettuce a day.

TEARFUL DREAMS

Mrs. P. K. writes: Why does a person of 62 dream and cry when dreaming?

REPLY

Dreams reflect not only present but past experiences. One of the first questions we might ask is whether this individual is unhappy or sad because of the loss of a dear one or has a feeling of insecurity.

CHRONIC INDIGESTION

E. B. writes: Could chronic indigestion cause recurring heartburn and a pain above and below the heart, as well as in the left shoulder?

REPLY

Yes, but more details on the nature of the pain and a heart examination will help to settle any qualms you might have about the heart.

College Admissions Men Ignoring Tests For Poor

By PETER A. JANSSEN
Advance News Service

LAKE GENEVA, Wis.—In an effort to recruit students from poor families many leading universities are discounting admission test scores and relying instead on hunches and interviews.

"We've kept the test scores down to admit some kids from blue-collar families and some poor Negroes," said Fred L. Glimp, admissions director at Harvard College. "Once they're in they do as well as anyone else."

He told 125 college officials at a meeting of the College Scholarship Service here that Harvard often looks for "flexibility and toughness" instead of sheer intelligence to achieve a diverse student body.

"We're looking for the long-distance runner type," Glimp said. "He'll keep running after the normal person stops and he'll do well regardless of his ability."

The persevering student also is sought by other schools.

Williams College has started a special admissions program and accepts 10 per cent of its freshman class as "high risk" cases to broaden its enrollment.

Stanford University, the University of Michigan and the University of Pennsylvania also are reaching beyond traditional college applicants to admit youngsters who have not achieved academic distinction.

Once admitted, these students are given scholarships as well as heavy tutoring and counseling to help them finish college. Finding sources of financial aid for Negroes, however, is not easy for schools which cannot raise large sums themselves.

Jack Critchfield, dean of admissions at the University of Pittsburgh, said "color makes the big difference" in obtaining loans and grants for students.

He charged that some banks refuse to make loans, even when requested by the university, to Negro students. "We've had Negroes walk into a bank, ask for a loan to pay their tuition and be told that nothing is available," Critchfield said.

"To test this we sent white kids in the next day and they were given loans without any trouble at all," he added.

However, Peter P. Muirhead, associate U.S. Commissioner of Education, emphasized that many schools themselves do little to spread civil rights. He said that some schools "are not doing all they can to encourage and welcome into their midst qualified Negro students. I hope more of you go recruiting in schools on the other side of the tracks."

"Students we would welcome either don't know that our doors are open or don't know or appreciate what is available beyond the doors" he said.

Few students from poor families arrive at any college through national scholarship competition. Only 11 per cent of 12,418 merit scholarship finalists in 1964 came from families with income under $6,000 and only 2.4 per cent came from families earning less than $3,000 a year.

Among youngsters from poor families and poor high schools, college entrance exams and scholarship tests may not adequately measure academic potential.

Admissions officers, therefore, rely heavily on the personal ratings of disadvantaged high school graduates made by teachers, counselors, principals and local college alumni.

At Harvard, youngsters with high personal ratings perform better than those with high entrance exam scores. More of them graduate and more of them graduate with distinction.

Glimp said youngsters are admitted with high personal ratings even if they have low test scores while those with low personal ratings must achieve almost the highest test scores to get in.

"We want to be frank and flatfooted about it and find real quality, not just the appearance of quality," he said.

"A bright boy who is a passive, nice, worthwhile, docile kid, why he just gets clobbered in our environment. We'd rather tip the scales for somebody not as bright on a test of who will survive. But we're still essentially playing hunches."

Clean Water Tab At $40 Billion

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — It would cost $40 billion to eradicate water pollution in the United States but "it's got to be done," Rupert Lore, president of the Oyster Institute of North America, said today.

And Edward J. Gruble of Seattle, vice president of the institute, said river pollution by the wood products industry in his part of the country is a major problem.

The pulp industry in Washington is so powerful that federal intervention will be required to reduce pollution, Gruble told a joint convention of the Oyster Institute and the National Shellfish Association.

Summer School Race Mixing Asked By U.S.

By PETER A. JANSSEN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—The U. S. Office of Education has ordered school districts to use summer school as a vehicle of greater desegregation.

Harold Howe 2nd, U. S. Commissioner of Education, wrote all state school superintendents that summer schools should prepare pupils and teachers for even further integration in September, it was learned recently.

He also ordered the superintendents to revise "any summer project that is likely to be operated on a discriminatory basis."

If the revision fails, Howe said, the superintendent must inform his office so it can take action under the Civil Rights Act.

"Your agency must make special efforts to make sure that such projects are not begun on a segregated basis," Howe said. "In order to avoid the possible necessity of discontinuing or reorganizing the project after it has begun."

He urged the superintendents to avoid using a predominately Negro school for the summer if there is another school "reasonably close to it."

And if a district conducts similar programs at more than one school, the state superintendent must determine "whether this separation is justified on some basis other than the maintenance of segregation," Howe said.

"In making this evaluation the state educational agency should consider the racial composition of the teaching staff, whether the school at each location is thought of by the public as being for white or Negro children and whether the activities could be conducted at one location where members of both races would feel free to attend."

Howe's letter spelled out desegregation efforts required of districts using federal funds for summer programs.

These include Project Head Start and other pre-school programs as well as those for elementary and secondary school pupils and adults in low-income areas.

Schools may be selected for these programs because of a concentration of poor children, he said

But "all of the children residing in the area surrounding that school should be considered for participation in the project according to their needs without regard to race, color or national origin."

The requirements must be met even if the U. S. Education Office agreed to finance a district's summer school before the strengthening of its civil rights guidelines in March, Howe said.

The guidelines specify that "free choice desegregation measures normally may not be applied" to pre-school, summer and adult education programs.

Many districts have instituted "free choice" provisions, allowing pupils to attend any school in the district, as the first step toward desegregation.

Howe said that "summer projects provide an opportunity for helping the community with the transition and helping the staff prepare for faculty desegregation during the coming school year" in districts working under federal desegregation plans.

These districts can demonstrate their good faith by promoting greater desegregation in the summer, he added.

Howe emphasized that the desegregation order applies to the selection of pupils, teachers and schools in all federally financed summer programs.

The University of Pennsylvania defeated Penn State, 4-2, in 1919, in the first dual college boxing meet on record.

Three Boys Safe In Mountains

MORRO BAY (AP) — Three young brothers walked unharmed today from a wooded canyon in the Santa Lucia mountains where they were lost overnight.

Two hundred and fifty volunteers were searching for 11-year old twins Bill and Tom Jones and their brother Lynn, 14, of Paso Robles.

They were reported missing from Cerro Alto Camp Grounds, in a federally owned forest between Morro Bay and Atascadero, Sunday.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Artistic Quality Question Unresolved

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —NBC-TV has won a court decision over its use of commercials during the March 12 showing of the movie "A Place in the Sun," but the general issue of protecting artistic quality of films from ads is not resolved.

The judge said as much in noting that his decision Friday referred essentially to the case at hand. So the door is technically still open to further suits to combat more offensive use of ommercials.

The case arose, when George Stevens, producer of the movie, based on Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy," tried to stop NBC-TV from showing the film with commercials. A judge, at the time, did not feel that all ads could be banned, but he established the important idea that an artistic work —and its creator's reputation— were deserving of protection, and that the network showing therefore had to place its commercials so that the quality of the move was not destroyed.

In short, despite Friday's ruling for NBC-TV, the principle involved is still potentially important, and has not been cast aside—and this is Steven's victory.

The earlier judge ruled that NBC-TV could not "emasculate" the Stevens film in its showing. Stevens, upon seeing the broadcast, maintained the network violated the injunction. Thus the question, with the new jurist, Superior Judge Richard Wells, as whether NBC-TV acted in contempt.

He decided that it did not. Being a contempt case, the intent of the defendant as a significant point. As Wells noted, the plaintiff has the burden of proving contempt beyond a reasonable doubt.

Getting down to cases, however, the judge said that the main reason the television version of "A Place in the Sun" did not violate the injunction was the power and strength of the film itself. He added that it might be said that the effect of commercial interruptions on a movie is in adverse ratio to this strength or qualihy of the film.

Adding that interruptions did affect the motion picture somewhat, he said, however, that the locations for the commercials were not determined haphazardly with a stop watch, but with considerable care. Likewise, he added, the content of the interruptions as not in bad or questionable taste, or jarring in effect.

Trustees Meet With College On Teachers

The Sausalito School District board, in a special meeting Saturday with the staff of San Francisco State College discussed progress of the district's teacher training program.

The special meeting at Bayside School was called on less than 24 hours notice. Trustee Harold Sleight said it was set at a time when all board members and the college staff could attend.

The program started in the district in February, with students from the college working in the district as teachers' aides, providing training for the students and assistance for district teachers at no cost to the district. Sleight said plans for continuing the program next fall were discussed.

The board's regular meeting has been moved up from next Monday to today at 8 p.m. in the district office. Supt. Charles Lavaroni said the meeting date was changed so the board could continue work on the budget, which must be submitted to the county schools office by July 1.

The board will also begin screening applicants to replace trustee Mrs. Jessie M. Zimmer, a board member, who is moving out of the state.

Trio Attempting Yosemite Climb

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (UPI)—Three California men today began the first assault of the south face of Yosemite Valley's famous Half-Dome.

The leader of the trio is Warren Harding, 42, of Sacramento, an experienced mountain climber who was with the first party to scale 3,200-foot El Capitan here in 1959.

His companions are Galen Rowell, 25, of Albany, Calif., and Gary Colliver, 23, of El Cerrito, Calif.

Search Halted In Murder Case

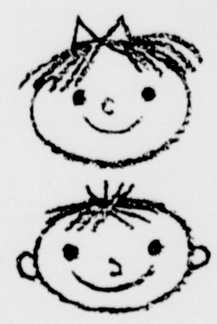

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Searchers have ended their efforts to find the rest of Judy Williamson's skeletal remains on a remote mountain slope near Big Basin State Park, San Mateo County Coroner Paul B. Jensen disclosed yesterday.

Jensen said deputy coroners and county jail trustees have sifted 120 tons of dirt in the past six weeks to find the rest of the University of California coed's remains. He said their work turned up only one additional vertebra and pieces of her skirt.

Miss Williamson disappeared in 1963 on her way from her Albany home to the UC campus at Berkeley. Parts of her remains including her skull, were found on the mountain slope last April 7. Investigators said a knife that had apparently been used to slay the girl was discovered nearby.

GIANTS NIP PHILLIES IN 10TH

Lanier Snaps Slump—At Right Time

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Hal Lanier doesn't have broken legs after all, and his arms, it would seem, are in a fine state of health.

He showed both off to advantage yesterday when he walloped a hefty homer and then jubilantly loped around the bases as the winning run in the Giants' 10-inning, 7-6 conquest of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Yet just two days ago, Lanier, frustrated by a bench-sitting stint which began May 28, was moved to complain: "The guy who makes out the lineup cards must think I got two broken legs."

Now Lanier, eager to forget the past, hopes to see action again tonight in another game against the Phils.

His game-ending blow off Bo Belinsky snapped Philadelphia's winning streak at six and enabled the Giants to retain their commanding first-place position in the National League, two games ahead of second-place Los Angeles.

He also doubled across two runs in the third inning and wound up with three hits for the outing, as did Jim Ray Hart.

The Phillies twice came from behind and finally went ahead 6-5 in the fifth. But in the ninth, the Giants tied it on singles by Tito Fuentes and Willie Mays Mays around a sacrifice.

San Francisco used five pitchers, the victory going to Frank Linzy, now 2-2, who came in during the eighth to relieve Bob Priddy. In the fifth, Priddy, a relief artist himself, allowed his first run in 17 innings.

Len Gabrielson hit a two-run homer in what turned out to be the Giants' biggest inning, their three-run first.

In Saturday's encounter with the Phils, Giant pitching ace Juan Marichal was bombed for six runs and eight hits in four innings and the Philadelphians won 6-1.

The loss ended Marichal's string of victories at 10 and his earned run average shot up from what had been an incredible 0.80 to a still-excellent 1.29.

Willie Mays spoiled Philadelphia pitcher Chris Short's bid for a shutout with a homer in the sixth inning. It was Mays' of his career. In all, the Giants 13th of the season and No. 518 of his career. In all, the Giants collected only six hits.

FRANK BURCH NAMED USF SCHOLAR-ATHLETE

Frank Burch of San Rafael has been named winner of the annual Charles L. Harney Award as the University of San Francisco's finest senior student-athlete.

A former Marin Catholic star, Burch, 21, was the Dons' leading pitcher in strikeouts with 100 in 75⅔ innings and won six games—three on shutouts—and lost three.

Burch won the honor over basketball star Russ Gumina and Jim Beasley, catcher on the USF baseball team. The award is given yearly to the "senior athlete who has maintained the highest academic average during his tenure at the university."

Novato Boy May Be Youngest To Compete In National Open

IT MIGHT seem sacrilegious to mention Raymond Leach of Novato in the same golf column with Robert T. Jones Jr. of Atlanta, Ga., but the former just may go one up on the legendary Jones during the next couple of weeks.

I don't think there is much question that Bobby Jones is regarded as the greatest amateur golfer of all time. His grand slam—British Amateur and Open and U.S. Amateur and Open championships—of 1930 plus countless other titles are among the game's greatest achievements.

Yet, although he started winning tournaments at the age of 9, Bobby Jones did not qualify for the National Open until 1920, at the age of 18.

WHICH BRINGS us to Master Leach, who could very well become the hottest young golf property to come along the pike in recent years.

Tomorrow the Novato youngster, who won't reach his 16th birthday until next Sunday, will attempt to become the youngest player in history to qualify for the U.S. Open.

HAVING ALREADY passed the "local" qualifying test, he will go up against 26 professionals and 17 other amateurs at the San Francisco Golf Club in a grinding 36-hole "Sectional Qualifying" tournament tomorrow. The nine low scores will advance to the Open at the San Francisco Olympic Club June 16-19.

Leach sounds fairly confident while discussing his prospects by pointing out he likes tomorrow's qualifying site, having studied there under the coaching of professional John Geerston for the past two years. "I've been in the 60's there," he added while estimating a pair of 74's "or thereabouts" should crack the qualifying barrier.

HE SAID he has practiced and played at the S.F. Club frequently in recent weeks, including three times last week, while tuning up for this biggest event of his budding career.

"I'll be glad when it's over, though," he smiled, showing traces of the mounting tension.

LEACH, WHO is completing his sophomore year at Novato High, will be up against a tough field tomorrow, but there weren't any slouches in the field at Burlingame and the Peninsula Club May 23-24 when his 150 for 36 holes cleared the first qualifying hurdle.

TOMORROW THE blond youngster will tee off at 9:36 a.m. in the company of Kyle Burton, pro at the S.F. Olympic, who could prove a steadying factor for the baby in the field.

Around 6 p.m. tomorrow we will know if Ray Leach has made the grade. And don't be surprised if on June 16 the National Open lineup will include such names as Palmer, Nicklaus, Player, Lema, Hogan, Leach . . .

Tiburon Swimmers Defeat Richmond

Tiburon Peninsula Swimming Club defeated the Richmond YMCA splashers, 332-205, as six pool records were shattered, Saturday at Tiburon.

Linda Locati (13-14-yearolds) accounted for three new records —100 fly, 100 free and 200-yard individual medley; Ken James (15-17) broke the standard in the 100-yard butterfly, and Greg Myers (13-14) smashed two recors, 100 fly and 200 individual medley.

Both boys and girls in the 9-10-year-old bracket won every event for the Tiburon club. An outstanding performance was turned in by Beth Remak (11-12) with a tie for first in the 50 free.

MAJESTIC BEAUTY OF A YACHT

Caddies Help Yancey Win Memphis Open

Both were there yesterday when he needed them for his record-setting journey to a 15-under-par 265, lowest score on the 1966 PGA tour, and $20,000 in first-place prize money.

Roy Stone, a touring caddy, telephoned Yancey at the motel and told him he had only 10 minutes to reach the course to tee off on the final 18 holes.

Roy Sanders, Yancey's caddy during the tournament, talked strategy with the young Philadelphian and suggested the 2-iron shot which Yancey said was his best fairway swing of the day.

Yancey, trailing Gene Littler by one stroke going into the final round, fired a four-under-par 66 for 65 total, one stroke lower than Cary Middlecoff shot in winning the 1961 title.

"I was putting really well," the 27-year-old Yancey said. His wife, Linda, 22, gave him a putting lesson a week ago in Oklahoma City. He birdied five holes and had only one bogey.

Yancey slept late and then watched television coverage of the Gemini 9 space adventure until 20 minutes before time to tee off. The starting time had been advanced because of TV coverage of the tournament.

"At 11:10, Roy called me and said I was due off at 11:20," he said. "I was never so frightened. I just knew I had blown the whole works."

He reached the tee eight minutes before he would have been disqualified.

Yancey was one-under-par on the first nine while Littler dropped four strokes off the pace.

"Yancey has a different swing from anybody I ever caddied for," Roy Sanders said. "It's so slow and easy. He never swings hard at the ball. He reads his own greens."

This was Yancey's second tournament victory since turning pro. He won the Azalea Open at Wilmington, N.C., in April.

Littler at 270, finished second and won $12,000 here. Other leading money winners were Johnny Pott (271) $7,500; defending champion Jack Nicklaus (272) and Bruce Devlin (272), $4,650 each.

Recess In 'War' Delays Signing

HOUSTON (AP) — Rumors of $750,000 popped up beside the name of quarterback John Brodie of the National Football League San Francisco 49ers yesterday, and there were indications the rival league's Houston Oilers have offered this much to sign him after his option is played out.

K. S. (Bud) Adams, owner of the American Football League Oilers, said of reports from the West Coast that his team had offered Brodie three-quarters of a million dollars: "We did discuss terms with Brodie, and I'd say the figure mentioned is in the right ball park."

"He was ready to sign a contract," Adams said. But now, he added, Brodie is "standing by waiting to see what is going to happen." Adams referred to the feud between the two leagues.

Early last week, Oilers' General Manager Don Klosterman confirmed that Brodie had met with the Oilers here. Adams said yesterday the club has been in contact with the star passer since then.

"We discussed salaries and everything but some things have taken place since then," Adams continued. "If they hadn't taken place we would have signed him to a contract." Adams revealed no definite sum or terms discussed with Brodie.

HIS OPTION

To sign with Houston, Brodie would have to play out his option next year with San Francisco. The AFL-NFL feud began after the New York Giants of the NFL signed Pete Gogolak when he played out his option with Buffalo of the AFL.

At present, Adams said, "We're in a recess period to try to figure out what's going to happen in deciding whether there will be an all-out war or peace" with the NFL.

"We're not going to wait very long," Adams said. "A settlement will have to come pretty quickly or we're going to retaliate."

"Now it's up to the NFL to decide what is going to happen — whether it's going to be peace or all-out war. If it's war, we're ready to put on any size glove they're ready to fight with. If it's peace, we'll be really willing to sit down and talk with them on a reasonable basis."

Adams' comments echoed those Klosterman made last week, when he said after announcing the talks with Brodie, "We're ready to battle them (the NFL) with any ounce glove they want . . . they struck the first blow."

An Ace At Marin

Arthur Ballantine carded a hole-in-one on the seventh hole at Marin Country Club Saturday. The feat was witnessed by Jim Graham who was playing with Ballantine.

No Decision For Spahnie

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Warren Spahn, now 45, worked five innings for his new team, the Mexico City Tigers of the Mexican League Saturday night and was not involved in the decision.

Spahn, whose 363 victories is a major league record for lefthanders, struck out three, walked one and allowed seven hits. He left with a 3-2 lead over the Jalisco Charros after five full innings in his first start.

Mexico city won it 4-3, but Spahn was not involved.

Spahn was given his unconditional release by the San Francisco Giants at the end of last season. a long-time star for the Boston and Milwaukee Braves, he also pitched for the New York Mets.

Cincy, Pitt Stars On Bat Spree

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Leo Cardenas fell one homer shy of a record. He won't get another chance — without starting over.

Willie Stargell fell one hit shy of a record. But he will get another chance — without starting over.

Cardenas, Cincinnati's 160-pound shortstop, slammed four homers and drove in eight runs as the Reds split a doubleheader with Chicago yesterday, winning the opener 8-3 before the Cubs took the nightcap 9-5.

By hitting four homers in a twinbill, Cardenas accomplished a feat that hadn't been done since the 1963 season. But he still fell one shy of the five Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals hit in a 1954 doubleheader.

Cardenas won't get another chance, unless he starts another muscle-flexing streak, but Stargell still has a chance to match the National League and major league records for most consecutive hits.

The Pittsburgh slugger was interrupted by the end of the Pirates' 10-5 victory over Houston after collecting five straight hits, including two homers. And he still had a streak of nine consecutive hits intact.

When the Pirates meet St. Louis tomorrow night he'll get a shot at the N.L. record of 10 — last achieved by Cincinnati's Woodie Williams in 1943 — and the major league record of 12 — last reached by Walt Dropo of Detroit in 1952.

Neither Cardenas nor Stargell professed much interest in their respective record-breaking attempts.

"I never knew about Musial's record,' 'said Cardenas. "No one mentioned it to me in the dugout. I do not swing at the fences anytime. Not one time do I go just for a home run."

"It scares me," Stargell said. "If I get it, it will be wonderful. If I don't, I'll just keep swinging away. I'm just trying to get a good piece of the ball."

BRAVES ROMP

Elsewhere, Atlanta crushed St. Louis 14-4, San Francisco edged Philadelphia 7-6 in 10 innings and Los Angeles and New York split, the Dodgers crusing to a 16-3 victory before the Mets won the nightcap 3-2.

Cardenas provided all the runs the Reds' needed in the opener, driving five runs with two homers and a single. Ron Santo and Randy Hundley homered for the Cubs.

Cardenas also hit two homers in the nightcap and added a double while driving in three runs, but the Cubs came from behind and won it with a five-run ninth. Billy Williams drove in the tying and lead runs with a two-out single.

Stargell drove in four runs against the Astros with his two homers, two singles and a double leading a 16-hit attack that stretched the Pirates' winning streak to five. Roberto Clemente also homered while Jim Wynn hit a pair for the Astros in a 4-for-4 performance.

THIRD STRAIGHT

The Braves rolled to their third straight victory after a string of seven losses by unloading 16 hits against the Cardinals. Dennis Menke, led the outburst that included a seven-run fifth inning in which 13 men batted by driving in five runs with a homer and four singles.

Sandy Koufax won the opener for the Dodgers with a five-hitter, joining San Franciso's Juan Marichal as the majors' only 10-game winners. Koufax was supported by a 19-hit attack that included five straight hits by Tommy Davis and two homers by Wes Parker.

Davis added two hits and Parker added a homer in the nightcap. But the Mets won it in the ninth when they pushed across a run on singles by Ken Boyer and Jerry Grote around an intentional walk, and a wild pitch by reliever Ron Perranoski.

Foyt Tells Of Fiery Crash

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — "I knew I had to get out or just fry," bandage-swatched A. J. Foyt said from a hospital bed yesterday.

The ace racing driver was badly burned Saturday in a crack-up during a test run at the Wisconsin State Fair Park here.

"I gritted my teeth and put my hands back in the burning fuel to raise myself out," the four-time national champion told newsmen.

Foyt said he could have "broken a leg and never felt it" because his hands hurt so much.

The 31-year-old Houston, Tex., driver had been favored to win yesterday's 100-mile Rex Mays classic in a car he had just purchased from Scotland's Jimmy Clark.

He had just taken about 10 practice laps around the track when the accident occurred.

Foyt commented: "$50,000 is a lot to spend for 10 laps."

A spokesman at the West Allis Memorial Hospital said Foyt suffered second and third degree burns on the face, neck and both hands. The burns covered from nine to 15 per cent of his body, the spokesman said. His condition was listed as good.

The car rammed into the south wall at the first turn, caromed off and burst into flames as it spun.

Foyt struggled to free himself of his safety harness and finally leaped from the car. He ran 20 feet away and yelled, "I'm okay, I'm okay," as an ambulance crew reached him.

The car was the same one that Clark drove to second place in the Indianapolis 500 mile race one week ago today.

It was the third wreck in three weeks for the curly headed Texan.

Foyt had purchased Clark's Lotus-Ford to drive in yesterday's race at the Fairgrounds after his own car was demolished.

Foyt, who began racing when he was only 18 years old, has won more championship class events for the Indy-style cars than any other driver in U.S. Auto Club history.

The 32 triumphs include victories in 1961 and 1964 in the rich Indianapolis 500. He also won the Mays race twice.

BENEFIT SEMI-PRO Games

San Rafael '9' Wins Again

Litchfield's baseballers of San Rafael continued their unbeaten string in San Francisco semi-pro baseball yesterday when they blasted Ellis Brooks Chevrolet 9-5 in the feature game of the 34th annual James J. Nealon benefit program at Golden Gate Park's Graham Field.

The San Rafael nine, flying the banners of Whitey Litchfield, owner of the Bermuda Palms, went through the San Francisco AAA Winter League this past season unbeaten. In two league meetings with Brooks, Litchfield's won 4-3 and tied 3-3.

Before a crowd of about 1,250, the San Rafael sluggers bombed southpaw Tom Del Sarto from the box and went on to collect 16 hits. Winning pitcher Rich Nye, a lefthander, allowed seven hits but got three himself to knock in three runs. He had two doubles and a single.

Barry Krohn had three for three for Litchfield's, two singles and a ground rule double, to knock in three runs. Earlier in the day he subbed for Palo Alto Oaks first baseman Rich Curtis who was spiked, and was "on loan" from Litchfield's. He helped the Oaks by walloping a grand slam homer.

The Palo Alto nine won that game, 12-5 over Montrose Chemical. In the other game on the tripleheader card, Bob's Pall Mall defeated Sarto's 5-3.

In addition to the slugging of Nye and Krohn, Litchfield's attack was aided by Don Lauters with a pair of singles, Alex Barrett with a single and double, Paul Giambra with a single and double and four fine defensive plays, and Steve Howder with two singles.

Nye gave up a run in the third inning and then held Brooks scoreless until he weakened in the ninth and gave up four more runs. With two outs, reliever Dave Alldrich came in to put out the fire, striking out the last Ellis Brooks man on three pitches.

It was Litchfield's 13th straight victory without defeat in San Francisco ball, and 20th win in the last 22 games.

Members of the spring athletic teams were presented with certificates and block letters. Members of the champion tennis, "C" track and varsity swim teams also received individual gold awards.

Redwood Golfers Place 10th In Piedmont Event

Redwood High School's golf team, champion of the Marin Athletic League, finished tenth in the Piedmont Invitational Golf Tournament Friday at Lake Chabot golf course, Oakland.

Twelve league champs, league runners-up and one or two individuals from each league participated in the tourney, and MAL runner-up Tamalpais wound up fifteenth.

Individual match medalist for county linksters were Fred Yates of Tam, Redwood's Mike Kelley and Terra Linda's Rick Timmer, each with a 78.

Castro Valley won the tourney with 297 points, while the best card was turned in by Blake McCurdy of Skyline High School, a found-under-par 68.

No-Hitter In Ross Little League Play

Bobby Brown, a sixth grader, pitched a no-hitter as the Ross Red Sox shut out the Ross Dodgers, 4-0, Saturday in Little League action.

The Red Sox lead the league with a 12-1 record.

Will Diane Rode get in good with Keith Reinhard?

Yes. You see, Keith's a defensive driver, so when Diane goes to pass him, he'll help. If there's a car coming in the other direction, he'll slow down to let Diane back into his lane. That'll not only help Diane pass—but it'll defend Keith from a multi-car crash. Are you a defensive driver?

Ryun Confident Of World Record

LOS ANGELE S (AP) — America's fastest miler, Jim Ryun of the University of Kansas, feels he can run faster yet —and if he does, he'll be the world champion miler.

Ryun smashed the American record and missed the world mark of France's Michel Jazy by one-tenth of a second as he turned in a remarkable 3:53.7 performance at the Compton Invitational Saturday night at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

"I was not disappointed," Ryun said of his near miss, "but I feel I could have run a little faster."

The 19-year-old freshman said he would like to run against Jazy himself, but added, "I understand it's a little hard to do." He referred to the Frenchman's seeming reluctance to compete with serious threats away from his homeland.

Ryun does have another chance this weekend, however, when he competes in the U.S. Track and Field Federation meet at Terre Haute, Ind.

How fast does he believe he can run?

"I'd rather not comment on that," the personable youngster smiled.

Ryun's time bettered the American record of 3:54.9 posted at Modesto in 1963 by Peter Snell of New Zealand.

Second-guessers thought Ryun might have broken the world record, for two reasons.

Jim Grelle, the Portland,, Ore., flash who broke the four minute mile for his 20th time in finishing second to Ryun Saturday, said Ryun "easily could have broken the record of the race had been run an hour or so earlier."

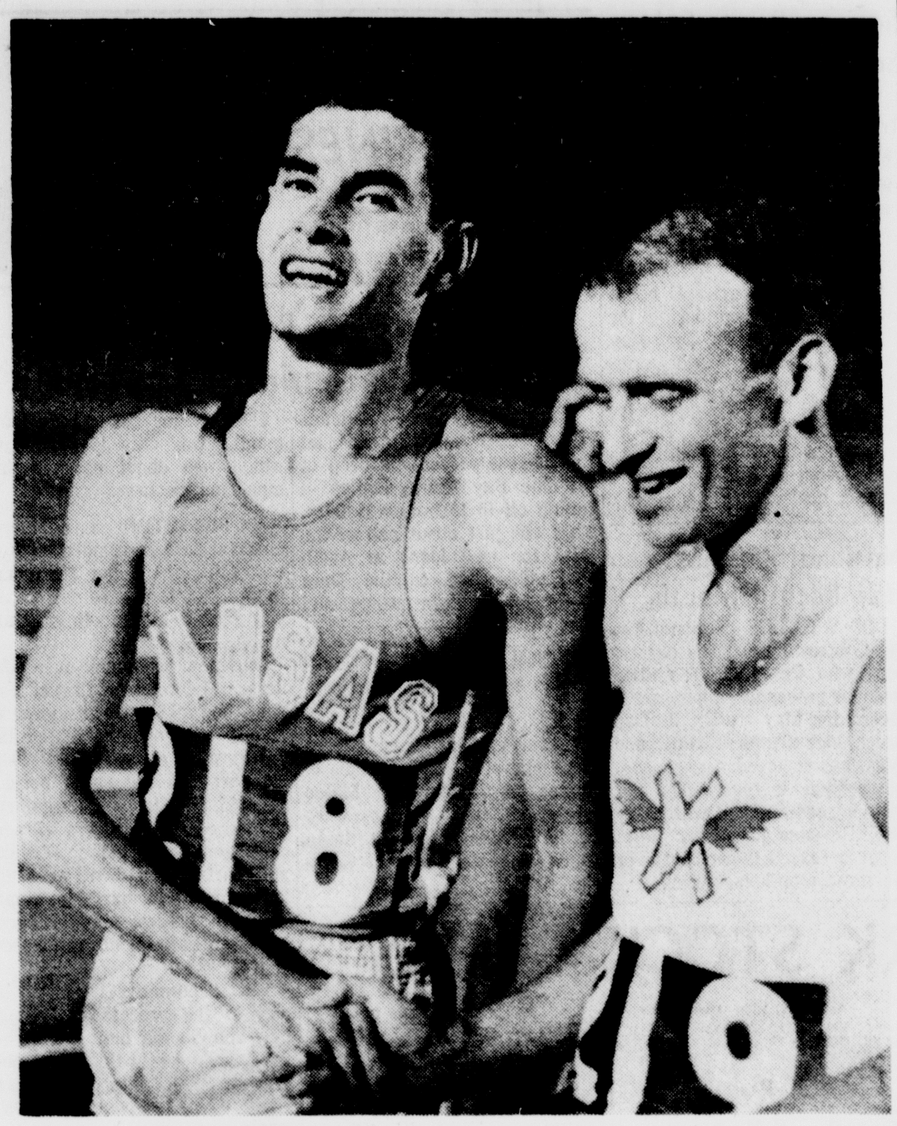

"The track wouldn't have been chewed up so much," Grelle explained, "and the weather would have been warmer."

The 10,000 fans also speculated that the one-tenth of a second deficit — less time than a clock's tick —might have been eliminated had Ryun not looked behind him once in the stretch, to see where Grelle was.

"I was concerned about him," Ryun explained. "I thought he was closer." Grelle's time was 3:56 flat.

Ryun's official clockings were 59.9, 1:58.5, 2:58.5 and 3:53.7.

Another youngster, 20-year-old Gerry Lindgren of Washington State University ran off with the 5,000 meters in 13:38.0, equalling the American record Bob Schul set at the same meet two years ago.

AMBEROID WINS THE BELMONT

3-Year-Old Racing Honors Wide Open As King Upset

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The race for the 3-year-old championship has come full cycle now. With Kauai King's defeat in the Belmont Stakes, it's once again a wide-open affair with at least four horses in strong contention.

The 1¼ miles of the Travers Aug. 20 could be decisive race.

The championship first figured to be a struggle between Graustark and Buckpasser. Then Kauai King took command and appeared to have it all but wrapped up.

The situation changed Saturday when Reginald Webster's Amberoid posted a 2½ length victory in the Belmont Stakes and Kentucky Derby-Preakness winner Kauai King ran fourth. Buckpasser returned to competition on the same Aquaduct card an authoritative decision over older horses in an allowance race.

With Graustark retired, Creme dela Creme, winner of the Jersey Derby and beaten only once, is the other member of the contending foursome. He sat out the Belmont and is being pointed for the one mile of the $100,000-added Classic at Arlington Park June 25.

While Amberoid and Kauai King are taking vactions from a rigourous campaign, Buckpasser will be very active.

Eddie Neloy has planned a busy campaign for Ogden Phipps' 1962 2-year-old champion following his allowance victory in 1:05 1-5 for six furlongs. The son of Tom Fool, absent with a hoof injury since winning the Flamingo at Hialeah Park early in March, will make his next start in $3,5000-added Leonard Richards at Delaware Park June 18 and then return to New York for the Saranac and Dwyer in July.

Amberoid's immediate plans are not definite but he may go west for the American Derby at Arlington park Aug. 6. That's also Kauai King's next objective although trainer Henry Forrest indicated he might send the son of Native Dancer after the Arlington Classic.

After the Classic, Creme dela Creme is scheduled to return to Monmouth Park in New Jersey.

All trainers, however, have indicated that if everything goes well they'll be at Saratoga for the Travers.

Amberoid, who stepped the 1½ miles of the Belmont in 2:29 3-5 and paid $13 as the second choice of a crowd of 56,011, came out of the race in fine shape.

Neither jockey Don Brumfield or owner Mike Ford were able to explain whey Kauai King did so poorly in his bid for the last leg of the Triple Crown.

"He was worse than in the Derby," said Brumfield. "He was trying to lug in in the first half-mile and I had a tough time keeping him from taking the lead earlier than when we did."

Bill Boland, who rode Amberoid, said he thought "we would win it" when he reached the three-eighths pole because he noticed Kauai King was running rank.

Halas Says Sayers Will Be Marked Man

NEW YORK (AP) — George Halas expects the rest of the league to gang up on Gale Sayers this coming season.

"They'd better," said the 71-year-old owner-coach of the Chicago Bears.

Halas was in town with other coaches in the National Football League for a two-day series of meetings with Mark Duncan, head of league officials.

"We know they are going to defense the heck out of Sayers, and rightfully so," said Halas. "I think it will open up other avenues of our offense. We expect it. We have been preparing for it all winter.

"It would not be fair to Sayers to expect him to have as great a year as last. But we do think we can open up a little more. We have Ron Bull back there and Andy Livingston, plus several others. And Johnny Morris on the flank and Jim Jones and Dick Gordon at split end."

As a rookie from Kansas, Sayers set a league record with 22 touchdowns last season and tied a one-game mark by scoring six touchdowns in one game against San Francisco on Dec. 5.

"I was on the other side both times when fellows scored six touchdowns before," said Halas. "Ernie Nevers got six against us with the old Chicago Cardinals and Dub Jones got six for Cleveland in a game with the Bears. This was by far the most spectacular .

"I will tell you something I never told before. The only reason Gale didn't get a chance to score a seventh when we had the ball on the four with two or three minutes to go, was that he had bruised his knee in the last quarter. He wanted to go in but I couldn't take a chance with a man's career."

When a reporter remarked that many planned to pick the Bears to win the Western Conference title this season, Halas pretended to be startled.

"There's your man," he said, pointing to Vince Lombardi, Green Bay coach. "You can take his picture right now."

LAZZARINI FINISHES SEVENTH

Marin Blanked In Cal Meet

Marin County came out of the California state high school track and field meet empty handed.

Drake's Dean Lazzarini made it to the finals of the weekend meet at Edwards Field in Berkeley, but the other two Marin entrants couldn't get past the trials Friday night.

Lazzarini, fifth place finisher in the 100-yard dash at last year's state meet, ran a 9.8 to place third in his heat Friday and qualified for Saturday's finals. But he finished out of the money against the state's fasteset preps. He was seventh Saturday in the finals, at 9.9.

Ken Blasingame, the fine hurdler from Tamalpais High, was stopped in the 120 high hurdles trials, and Marin Catholic's Gary Wittenmeier failed to qualify in the discus.

With an eye to the future, Tamalpais track coach Bruce Grant had some of his Class B stars compete in some exhibition events and they did a good job.

Malcolm Collier, the boy who competed as a varsity miler throughout the dual meet season and then was switched to the Class B 1320, won fifth place in a "B" exhibition 1320 with a fine 3:14.7 clocking. The Tam 440-yard relay team finished third in another Class B exhibition, running a 44.1 quarter-mile.

Dorsey High of Los Angeles swept to the team title with 22 points. Dorsey was led by Phil Underwood who won both sprints, the 100 in 9.6 and the 220 in 21.2.

Sohner Softball Team Loses 2 League Games

Rector Motors of San Mateo, defending California State Softball champions, swept a doubleheader from Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo Saturday night before a large crowd at Albert Park, San Rafael.

Scores of the AAA North Coast Traveling League twin-bill were 3-1 and 2-1.

Both games saw Sohner rallies fizzle in the final inning.

Trailing 2-0 in the nightcap, Ed Schulze opened the Sohner seventh with a singe to center. Pitcher Morey Swarm then blasted a long drive over the centerfielder's head, but with Schulze holding up at second to see if the ball would be caught, the two runners eventually wound up coming into third only a few feet apart. Schulze then broke for the plate and was out on a perfect relay.

Milt Hain followed with a line drive double to score Swarm, but the final two Sohner hitters failed to drive in the tying run.

The line scores:

Color Television Brings Slow Session

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today in a slow session.

The color television and office equipment issues were down sharply amid reports of lower prices for color TV sets and increasing competition in the office copying field.

Although the general economic backdrop was regarded as fairly encouraging, late news of a rise in unemployment was a dampening factor.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.4 million shares compared with 4.44 million Friday.

Color television issues and office equipments seemed under particular pressure, some of them losing several points.

Blue chips were down from fractions to one or two points. The industrial average was down sharply.

IBM lost about 7, Xerox 5, (new) 4 and Motorola 5.

SCM looked like the volume leader and was down about 3. Admiral and Polaroid were down between 3 and 4 points.

Lower prices for color TV sets and reports of increasing competition in the office copying field were cited as reasons for selling in these groups.

Teledyne and Northwest Airlines were down nearly 4 each.

Among blue chips, Kennecott slid about 3½, Du Pont 2, Westinghouse Electric and American Can more than a point.

The top steels, autos and oils were all losers. Chrysler, U.S. Steel and Jersey Standard were down about a point each.

Wall Street's worries about tight money were underlined by the drop in foreign exchange value of the British pound to its lowest level in 18 months amid reports of a rise in the British bank rate.

News of a jump in unemployment also depressed sentiment.

Sears, Roebuck Sales Climb 5.2 Per Cent

CHICAGO — Sears, Roebuck and Co. sales in May were 5.2 per cent higher than last year, it was announced by Austin T. Cushman, chairman of the board, and Crowdus Baker, president.

Gross sales were $588,007,122, an increase of $28,850,781 over sales of $559,226,341 in May 1965.

Savings Bonds Sales Set Record For May

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department reports sales of series E savings bonds, sparked by a higher interest rate and a payroll savings plan drive, rose to their highest level for May in 21 years last month.

Cash sales of series E bonds totaled $375 million during the month, the highest for May since 1945, while sales of series E and H bonds during May at $413 million were the highest for that month since 1956. The interest rate on these bonds was increased from 3.75 per cent to 4.15 per cent earlier this year.

National Airlines Has Record Month

LOS ANGELES—National Airlines, boarding 341,144 passengers who flew 245,147 million revenue passenger miles, set a record for May traffic, J. Dan Brock, vice president-traffic and sales, has reported.

Boardings increased 19.2 per cent in comparison with May 1965. Revenue passenger miles flown increased 19 per cent over the same month last year.

New Loans For Real Estate Take Big Drop In Marin During April

Marin County real estate loans (new loans) during April had the biggest percentage drop of all nine Bay Area counties — falling off to 15 million dollars. This was just about half of the total for new loans in April, 1965, according to the Data Sheet of Title Insurance and Trust Co.

Biggest drop was experienced by the savings and loan companies.

Declines to a lesser degree were shown in San Francisco, Contra Costa and San Mateo Counties. Slight gains were made by Alameda, Napa, Santa Clara, Solano and Sonoma Counties.

Decline for the first four months was only 13 per cent, which was about par for the nine-county course.

A BRIGHTER and more cheerful note is sounded by Novato Chevrolet dealer Ted Schuman, in the face of some recently reported falling off in automobile sales.

Schuman, who took over Andersen Chevrolet the first of last year, had a 68 per cent increase in new passenger car sales for the first five months of 1966 compared to the same period for 1965. New truck sales gained 48 per cent; used cars 47 per cent, and the customer service and parts department went up 54 per cent. January this year was his biggest month since opening. Last month was second.

Graham's England Crusade Enters Second Week Today

LONDON (UPI) —American evangelist Billy Graham's crusade entered its second week today with sights set on maintaining the overflow audience that packed the giant Earl's Court arena on Saturday night.

The North Carolina preacher set the stage for today's resumption of nightly sermons held every day except yesterday by appearing on two national television programs last night and this morning.

In today's television appearance, Graham said that the first four days of his greater London crusade was finding British audiences more sincere and more moved to make "decisions for Christ" than in his first crusade 12 years ago.

He said he felt this was "indicative of the fact people all over are praying for our success in the hope something will happen here that may have an impact on the U.S. as well."

Here's the low down on the '66 VW

$199 down (plus tax, license and credit approval)

$49.99 month (36-month bank financing)

No gimmicks. Just $199 down, plus $49.99 a month and you're driving a new VW.

No stripped down model, price includes heater, defroster, seat belts, turn signals, windshield washer, electric wipers, 4-speed transmission, automatic choke, deluxe trim and tool kit.

VW gas and oil economy lets you drive a mile for a penny (or just $10 a month for 1,000 miles). That's because you get an honest 30 mpg. You cruise at 70 mph. 10 years from now if you need a part (it happens sometimes) your dealer will still have it in stock. And its great resale value makes selling a VW half the fun of owning one.

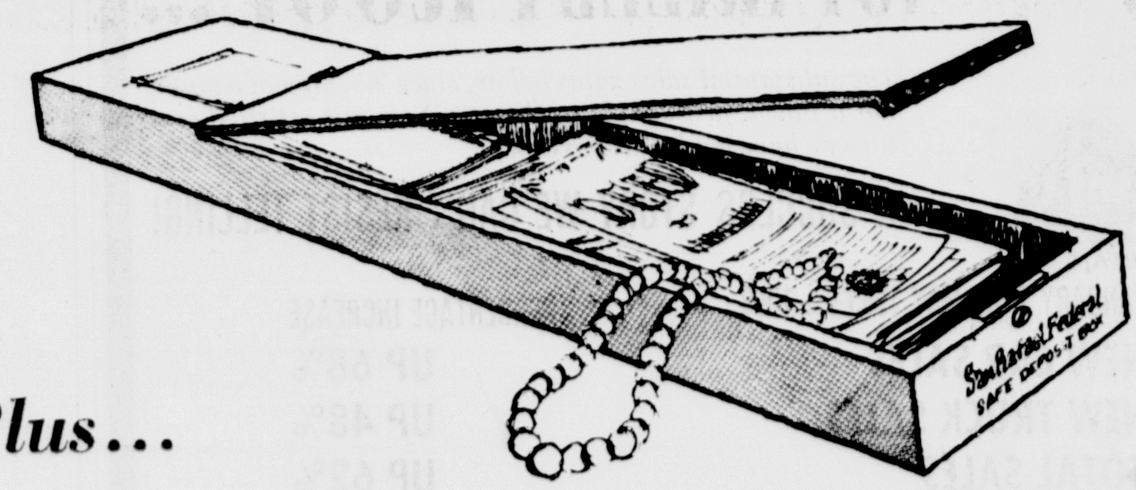

You can't lose. A VW gives you the kind of economy and performance you'd expect to pay extra for — for just $199 down and $49.99 a month. They're just built that way.
